City Council Adopts Order Transferring $16,000 to Health Department

Public Property Department Gets $4000 to Piece Out Original Appropriation

First indications of the close of the municipal year of 1920 came to light at this morning's meeting of the city council, when an order was adopted transferring $16,000 from the general treasury to the health department, and $4000 to the public property department to piece out the original appropriations of those departments made at the beginning of the year.

An exceptionally large number of contagious diseases which were not anticipated at the beginning of the year has eaten up $11,000 or $12,000 of the health department appropriation, Mayor Thompson said, while the public property department has had to make unexpected expenditures for the installation of dry closets in several of the schools.

The $16,000 appropriated today to the health department was divided, $12,000 going to the health yard appropriation and $4000 to the health office. The original health yard appropriation made at the beginning of the year amounted to $12,000 and the health office appropriation $34,250. The buildings department appropriation totalled $110,000 at the beginning of the year.

The council also took its first definite action toward the erection of a new firehouse in the Highlands at today's meeting, when it instructed the city clerk to serve notice on Albert D. Cameron, owner of the lot of land at the junction of Pine and Stevens streets, that the city intends to take that land to erect a new firehouse thereon. Mr. Cameron will be given a hearing on the matter before the council Thursday, November 11.

Men and Women of Nation Flock to Polls to Name Successor to Woodrow Wilson—Mass. Town First to Announce Returns—Reports From Other Places

JAMES M. COX

RECORD VOTE IN ALL SECTIONS

Rival Chairmen Continue to Express Confidence in Outcome

Second Only in Interest to Presidential Contest in Fight for Congress

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Men and women voters of the nation went to the polls today to select a new president for the four years beginning March 4 next.

Before the dawn of another day has broken, the country in all likelihood will know whether Warren G. Harding, republican or James M. Cox, democrat, has been elected to succeed Woodrow Wilson. None of the other five candidates has a chance. This election, it is estimated, will be registered by a record vote of between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 persons, many of whom are women who have been enfranchised since the last presidential election and are voting today for the first time.

Fought For Control of Congress
Second only in interest to the contest for the presidency, is the fight between the two major parties for control of the next congress. Thirty-four United States senators, 32 to fill seats now held by 17 democrats and 15 republicans and two to fill the unexpired terms caused by the deaths of Senators Bankhead, Alabama, and Martin, Virginia, are voting today.

FUEL ADMINISTRATOR

Mayor Thompson Appoints Agent Milliken of the Hamilton Mfg. Company

Mayor Perry D. Thompson today announced the appointment of Albert D. Milliken, agent of the Hamilton Mfg. Co., as fuel administrator for the city of Lowell until such time as the state fuel administrator's department shall decide that the fuel situation no longer requires supervision here.

Mr. Milliken's appointment comes as a result of a request received by the mayor yesterday from Eugene C. Hullman, state fuel administrator, that a local administrator be appointed here to see that every family gets its share of coal at the beginning of the winter season. There is at present a shortage of anthracite coal due to labor troubles at the mines and railroad difficulties and no family is allowed to secure more than three tons at a time in order that every family in the city may have an equitable share of the available supply of coal. Mr. Milliken has accepted the appointment and will begin his duties at once. He served as fuel administrator during the latter part of the war period when John M. O'Donoghue resigned to enter the national service.

HEAVY VOTING IN LOWELL

Record Vote Expected in All of the Twenty-eight Precincts

Women Among Early Morning Voters—Sun to Give Election Returns

The election battle—the greatest both in numbers taking part and importance of issues involved in the world's history—is on.

The day dawned in Lowell with lowering skies and the chill of winter in the air. Political chieftains found the weather bureau had promised unsettled conditions followed by rain. The election officials, as they made their way to the polling places in the cold gray morning, felt the tinge of snow in the air. It was a typical election and November day.

In most of the polling places the attendants greeted early comers wearing their overcoats with collars turned up. Continued to Page 7

Incomplete Returns in Topeka, Kansas—Man Arrested in Roxbury

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—The outpouring of voters in Massachusetts today, notwithstanding overcast skies, was so great as to tax polling place provisions. From the hill towns and the cities alike word came that the women were out in large numbers, and the male vote ran high.

This state gave the country the first returns early in the day, the little Berkshire town of New Ashford, with 23 votes for Harding and Coolidge, almost doubling its republican strength of four years ago, and the six votes for Cox and Roosevelt, said "one short of the number given President Wilson in 1916."

Extend Time For Voting
Because of the congestion reported from many places and the large registration, Deputy Secretary of State Boynton announced that he would advise the authorities of every city and town to meet in special session today and vote to extend to 8 p. m., the legal limit, the time for keeping polling places open. Melrose reported it had so voted. The secretary of state's office advised also that if prospective voters were still in line at the legal hour of closing, a police officer should be stationed at the end of the line and all persons in line be allowed to vote.

Gov. Cox Found 200 of His Neighbors Ahead of Him at Booth

Sen. and Mrs. Harding Vote in Garage—G. O. P. Candidate 13th in Line

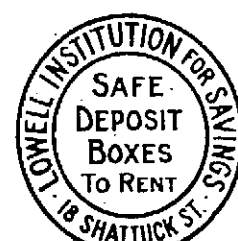

DAYTON, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Governor Cox voted early today, but on arriving at the polls found more than 200 of his neighbors had cast their ballots ahead of him.

Accompanied by Mrs. Cox, the governor reached the polling place, a combination barber shop, confectionery, tobacco store and print shop, at 10 o'clock, but the line of waiting voters delayed the deposit of their ballots until 10:17 a. m. The polls were in Carmate, a suburb of Dayton, and about a mile from the Cox home, Trilwood.

The vote cast by Mrs. Cox was not her first, as she had lived in Illinois and voted at a state election a few years ago. In the voting booth here, she showed her knowledge of the old Australian ballot, marking up four different forms composing it in two Continued to Page 7

Two Engineers and Trainman Killed

AUBURN, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Engineers James W. Toole and William M. Tuell and Trainman William W. Schultz, all of Auburn, were killed in a freight wreck in the Lehigh Valley yards, Auburn, today, when a double header coal train ran into the rear-end of a train of box cars, just pulling out of the yard. The double-header evidently overran the grade and the two locomotives were unable to check the momentum. All three men were buried under the wreckage and were taken out by yardmen and Auburn firemen.

$20,000 Transferred

An order appropriating from the general treasury fund the sum of $12,000 to the health care appropriation, $4,000 to the health office appropriation, and $4,000 to the public property department to meet contemplated fixed charges and current expenses in these departments for the remainder of the current fiscal year, was read.

Mayor Thompson said that the health department has had to expend $11,000 or $12,000 during the year for contagious diseases, an expenditure which was not anticipated at the beginning of the year. The public property department has had to spend money for the installation of dry closets in several of the schools and this also, was not anticipated at the beginning of the year.

The order was passed unanimously. Commissioner Salmon reported favorably on the following garage and gasoline petitions and the licenses were granted:

FEWER R. R. FATALITIES

Lowest Record Since 1898—

6978 Killed and 149,853

Injured During 1918

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Fewer persons were killed on railroads during 1918 than in any year since 1898, and fewer were injured than in any year since 1910, said a statement issued today by the interstate commerce commission.

During 1918 a total of 6978 persons were killed and 149,853 injured, compared with 8539 killed in 1898, and 119,507 injured in 1910. Of the killed during the last year, 273 were passengers and of the injured, 7456 were passengers. Employees killed during 1918 numbered 2138, and 121,618 were injured.

Fewer trespassers on railroads were killed in 1918 than during any year of the commission's records, which go back to 1890. Last year 2533 trespassers were killed and 2688 injured. Railroad officials said there were fewer persons out of employment and fewer tramps than formerly because of the war.

The accident occurred on the morning of Nov. 1, when the children were on their way home from the store, when something happened to the steering gear of an automobile that was being operated by a woman. The machine ran onto the sidewalk, striking the two children.

LOWELL LEGIONERS

ARE NOT WORRYING

Luther W. Faulkner and other officers of the local American Legion post, accused by James T. Duane, state commander of the Legion, of violating the constitution of the organization by participating in politics and therefore liable to be dropped from membership, stated this morning they had no cause to worry inasmuch as any action of theirs was perfectly legitimate in every way. They said, however, they did not desire to make any comment through the press in justification for any of their activities, but would readily take up the matter before the executive officers of the Legion.

Election Bulletins

Continued

In September. The weather was cold with predictions for snow.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 2.—The weather was threatening today when New Hampshire voters went to the polls. Interest centered largely in the senatorial contest between the republican and democratic candidates.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 2.—A normal vote, augmented by the women's ballots, was forecast for Vermont for today despite cold weather and a prediction of snow. The state always has some republican.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 2.—Early voters in lower Michigan went to the polls today through a heavy rain while those of the northern peninsula were greeted by colder weather and a forecast of snow.

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 2.—A record vote, possibly 550,000 or over, was forecast for Kansas today. Four years ago the vote was 629,513.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 2.—Negro voters were refused ballots at the voting places in Savannah today. Many negro women have registered here since the suffrage amendment became effective, but the election judges ruled that they were not entitled to vote because of a state law which requires registration six months before an election. No white women presented themselves at the polls.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 2.—In spite of heavy rain the vote was heavy in West Virginia today, whole families going to the polls together in many instances. At Snow Hill, Kanawha county, it was alleged the ballot box had been stolen. Government agents were sent to the town.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Deputies from the office of Charles F. Cline, United States district attorney, were added to the ballot box guards of special police and party workers in Chicago today, following the warnings given Judges in numerous precincts by Mr. Cline to be on the watch for law violations.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—California with a total registration of 1,374,151 today votes for president, United States senator and congressmen and 24 initiative and referendum measures. Among them is the alien land law which seeks to prohibit the leasing of agricultural lands by aliens ineligible to citizenship.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 2.—Republicans today centered their efforts in the Third district to bring about a break in the solid democratic delegation to congress.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 2.—An unprecedented heavy vote is being cast throughout Rhode Island today. Several districts reported at 11 o'clock more votes cast than the totals at all previous elections. The big increase is attributed not entirely to the women, as the number of male votes is greater than ever before. No rain had fallen up to 1 o'clock.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Party workers in Pennsylvania today exerted every effort to get out the full vote of their organization. An apparent lack of interest made this a difficult task. It was one of the quietest presidential campaigns in Pennsylvania in years, neither republicans nor democrats showing any extraordinary activity.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 2.—Election day in Delaware opened cloudy and warm. Both democratic and republican leaders claimed the state, and made extraordinary efforts to get out the vote. Because of uncertainty regarding the women's vote, some impartial observers regarded the state as doubtful.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 2.—Women outnumbered men in turning out to vote during the forenoon, many being in line half an hour before the polls opened at 6 a. m. They apparently were voting "straight" tickets, most of them spending little time in the booths. The vote will be tremendous.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 2.—Although the weather was threatening, both men and women voters began to flock to the polls in this city in large numbers soon after the hour of opening, 6 o'clock, and the indications at noon were that the total vote would exceed that cast at the state election in September by several hundred.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 2.—The race for senator with an independent and a democrat opposing Senator J. R. Lenroot attracted chief interest in Wisconsin. Senator La Follette threw his support to James Thompson, independent. The weather early was cloudy and cold.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 2.—Interest was keen today in the race between Senator A. B. Cummins, republican, and Claude H. Porter, democrat, for the senate. The weather was cool and cloudy, with a light snow on the ground.

POISE, Idaho, Nov. 2.—The strength to be shown by the non-partisan league in today's general election, was the problem perplexing political experts when the men and women of Idaho went to the polls.

The league has its own candidate for the governorship, and has endorsed the democratic candidate for the senate. The contests for these two offices was close.

In the old days when Griff was with Lowell, Jigger was not given much chance to show as "Bob" would generally trail him all night.

Griffith is now with him instead of "agin him" and he is working just as hard to help him this season as he used to hinder him in past seasons.

More details will be announced later.

GLOUCESTER, Nov. 2.—Gloucester went wild yesterday afternoon.

When word was flashed over the wire that Esperanto, Gloucester's hope and pride, had sailed to a brilliant victory over Delaware in the deciding race for the championship of the North Atlantic fishing fleet, bedlam was let loose. Every whistle in the town and harbor that could possibly make a noise was sounded and scenes paralleled only by the celebration of the signing of the armistice were on tap at every turn.

Main street was simply a mass of victory-mad men, women and children; all laughing, dancing and shouting at the top of their lungs. Esperanto, "Marty" Welch, the gallant crew—all were on every tongue and joy was unbounded. Guns were fired, whistles blown and horns tooted, and staid old "salts" that had been unmoved for years, shouted and danced along with the children.

Captain Charles Harty, former master of the Esperanto, was at the Western Union when the news came. Like a boy in his teens he danced and yelled along with the rest. It was his boat that had won, and Capt. Harty could not be outdone in showing his joy. Benjamin Smith, president of the Gorton-Pew Vessels company, owners of the Esperanto, who had accepted the challenge of the Nova Scotians and had made the great race possible, had sat at the telegraph wire from the start of the race and shouted the news of victory into the waiting throng as it flashed over the wire.

Immediately plans were started for a monster celebration and welcome to the "Marty" Welch and his gallant crew. And such a celebration as Gloucester has never seen before is expected when Esperanto sails into the harbor some time Thursday evening.

MIKE DONOVAN

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Mike Donovan of Brockton again made good last night, defeating Frank Tillo of the North End in the 10-round main event of the Bartolo A.C. tourney at the Grand Opera House.

The battle attracted one of the largest gatherings of fight fans ever assembled in the theatre, and was all that had been said of it in advance. From the first bell to the windup of the scrap both men were out to win. It was a tough, grueling combat for both, with Donovan having a big advantage because of his ability to lead and shoot his left hand. At mixing at close quarters he was not so good, and in several of the rounds he narrowly escaped defeat when the victory was within his grasp.

In the opening of the seventh Tillo caught Donovan asleep and dropped him with a right to the jaw. Donovan was up instantly, but it was a bad round for him, and he was lucky to get through it. His left jab to the head, his one best punch, was all that got him by.

The Brockton man forced the fighting the greater part of the distance and this and his cleaner work gave him at least seven rounds of the 10. But in no round after the fourth was his margin very great.

STRIKES AND SPARES

In the last contests of the Appleton Bowling league Forsyth's rolling featured.

Martin is slowly slipping from the ground of high average rollers in the Appleton league.

The Dye House team of the Appleton Mill league has shown considerable class in its bowling during the present season and is still holding a wide margin over the Beamers in the league standing.

In the Merrimack Mills Bowling league Manos has held the high average since the start of the season, and it looks as though he will be a good man to enlist for a bowling team to represent Lowell in any inter-city contests.

In comparison with other teams of different leagues the team totals of the Gas Light Company Bowling league have been comparatively small. In the last contest the highest was 137.

The individual record by Harrison of the Lamson league for a three-string total is 16 pins above the pinfall of 320 made by Manos of the Merrimack league in his last game.

Facts You Should Know About

"Bigger Than Weather" Overcoats

PATRICK overcoats are made exclusively from the heavy long-fibre wool of the northern sheep—sheep that thrive in the snow.

PATRICK takes the wool from these cold weather sheep and manufactures it into the famous Patrick cloth and then into the equally famous Patrick garments—every step from the raw wool to the finished garment is done by Patrick.

PATRICK reputation started with the mackinaw used by Northern woodsmen, a garment in which protection from the elements, long wear, and the feeling of ease are essentials.

PATRICK then added to these essentials that richness and style that only a master designer can create—and sacrificed none of these essentials upon which the Patrick reputation is built.

PATRICK overcoats are the result—PROTECTION FROM THE ELEMENTS, LONG WEAR, COMFORT AND RICHNESS IN STYLE.

PATRICK has not stopped there—other garments made from the famous Patrick wool and by the famous Patrick processes have come from the famous Duluth mills, all bearing the Patrick label and the Patrick reputation for comfort, durability, style and protection from the elements. Here are some of them:—

—Patrick mackinaws for outdoor men.

—Patrick mackinaws and overcoats for outdoor children.

—Patrick hose.

—Patrick caps.

—Patrick outdoor blankets.

—Patrick auto robes.

—Patrick hunting garments.

Favor Russian Revolution

PARIS, Nov. 2.—It is proposed by the French government to lay before parliament a bill providing for the transfer of the body of an unknown soldier from the battle zone to the Pantheon in this city and it is probable an immediate vote will be requested. ## "BOLD JACK" ROSE

Will Address Men's Meeting at the Lowell Opera House Next Sunday Afternoon
Jack Rose, better known as "Bald Jack" Rose, who is to speak at the Sunday afternoon men's meeting to be held at the Lowell Opera House next Sunday, will be remembered by the men of Lowell because of his connection with the famous Becker murder, which occurred in New York some time ago. Mr. Rose spent some time in Sing Sing and other penal institutions about New York, and will be remembered by the men of Lowell for his convincing speaking to great numbers of men, and it will be a rare opportunity for the men of Lowell to hear this remarkable man. Comments from the press of the Boston Herald in which Mr. Rose has spoken state that Mr. Rose's peculiar power and interesting story attract men in great numbers. It is expected that the Lowell Opera House next Sunday afternoon will bang out the S.R.O. sign long before the time for Mr. Rose's appearance. Ella Wheeler Wilcox speaks of Jack Rose as "the man with the message," saying in part: "I have heard a great many ministers of the gospel, preachers, priests, reformers and philanthropists talk about the cause of evil in the world and the need of reforms; heard them describe what reforms were needed and just how good folks could best help bad people to be better. I have heard sermons and lectures given to the young and to the parents of the young, and invariably one and all of these addresses contained ideas worthy of serious thought and respectful consideration. But the most compelling, far-reaching and absorbing conversation I ever heard on these subjects, and the talk which left most lasting impressions, and which most clearly defined the needs of 'good society' to reform, was given by a man who barely escaped the electric chair. Jack Rose by name."

A good many husbands with families of grown children are still in "hock" for their wives.

Buying wives on the installment plan was the only way to make the wedding bells ring after the rinderpest plague in 1896. Rinderpest, a peculiar animal disease, almost exterminated all the cattle over 1,000,000 head perishing.

Wives were bought on long-time credit. And many haven't been paid for yet.

Record Vote in All Sections

gists, both democrats, are being chosen as well as an entire new house of representatives, composed of 435 members.

The present senate is composed of 47 democrats; 43 republicans and one republican and progressive. The present house consists of 130 democrats, 232 republicans, two independent republicans, one independent and one prohibitionist. There are also nine vacancies.

Rival Chairmen Confident

Will H. Hays and George White, republican and democratic national chairmen, respectively, each continued confident of victory, when the polls opened. Mr. Hays reiterated his prediction that the republican ticket was certain to obtain 358 electoral votes, and that there was a strong possibility that the total might reach the 400 mark. A total of 265 is necessary to elect. Mr. White gave out no last minute prediction of the electoral vote, but renewed his expression of confidence in the election of Governor Cox. Each chairman also predicted control of the next congress by his party.

Cox Busy Up to the Last Minute

The campaign itself, waged principally around the League of Nations issue, did not come to an end until an early hour this morning. Senator Harding spent election night at his home in Marion, Ohio, while Governor Cox wound up his campaign at a big meeting in Toledo last night, but state and local candidates throughout the country kept up their quest for votes into the dark hours of the night.

Unsettled weather with the possibility of rain, faced the early voters of the eastern states as they trudged to the polls to cast their ballots, while those of the upper Mississippi valley and Northern New England and New York prepared for snow. The rest of the country generally was expected to vote under clear skies.

Candidates Await Verdict

Senator Harding will await the verdict of the electorate at his home in Marion, where he will receive news bulletins compiled from figures collected by the Associated Press. Governor Cox plans to receive the returns in the office of his newspaper, the Dayton Associated Press, and will obtain its full election night service.

Expect 3,000,000 to Vote in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—New York state's voters went to the polls in large numbers early today, and officials predicted at the close of the ballot boxes at 6 o'clock tonight at least 3,000,000 of the 3,500,000 qualified men and women would have expressed their choice for national, state and local offices.

Expect to Sweep South

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 2.—Democratic leaders were confident they would make a clean sweep in all southern states today. The republicans, however, claimed they would be able to elect their congressional candidates in at least half a dozen scattered districts.

The election of Col. Alf Taylor, the republican gubernatorial nominee in Tennessee, was forecast by his supporters, who said his majority would be at least 15,000.

Tennessee democrats, however, claimed the re-election of Governor Roberts and predicted that Governor Cox would carry the state by 40,000.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 2.—Democratic leaders were confident they would make a clean sweep in all southern states today. The republicans, however, claimed they would be able to elect their congressional candidates in at least half a dozen scattered districts.

Tennessee democrats, however, claimed the re-election of Governor Roberts and predicted that Governor Cox would carry the state by 40,000.

Republican state chairman John J. Gore conceded that Senator Harding probably would lose the state by a narrow margin.

Leaders in both parties were claiming today that a heavy woman vote would help their cause. Many Georgian women were expected to demand a vote despite the state law which provides that voters must register six months before election. Women of the state were not registered because ratification of the federal suffrage amendment was completed less than six months ago.

Heavy Vote in Ohio

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2.—Heavy rain in portions of Ohio today threatened to dampen the ardor of early voters. Clearing skies and cooler weather were predicted for later in the day.

Women voters plus the normal increase in men voters, were expected to swell Ohio's vote to more than 2,000,000. The previous record was 1,865,000, cast in 1916.

Heavy Vote in Vermont

BARRRE, Vt., Nov. 2.—Voting up to early dawn brought favorable weather conditions indicated a heavy vote throughout Vermont. Support of the national republican ticket was heightened by the fact that Governor Calvin Coolidge, the vice-presidential candidate, is a native of Vermont.

James Hartness, republican of Springfield, will be elected governor by a majority fully as large as that accorded Harding and Coolidge.

Contests in Missouri

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 1.—The presidential race shared interest with senatorial and gubernatorial contests as Missouri voters went to the polls today.

Senator Seiden P. Spencer, republican, a candidate for re-election, is opposed by Breckinridge Long, formerly third assistant secretary of state, John M. Atkinson, democrat, and Arthur M. Hyde, republican, are the candidates for governor.

With a promise of fair weather, a heavy vote was expected.

MAN ASSAULTED IN HIS OWN HOME

A middle-aged man, whose name, according to the police is Mike Chemaj, of 77 Railroad street, was taken to St. John's hospital last night about 7 o'clock suffering from a severe wound in the head. The police say he was struck by a cuspidor thrown by a man assailant whom they know Chemaj was found in a semi-conscious condition by his wife on her return to the house at 77 Railroad street from her day's work. He was lying in a pool of blood. Reports from the hospital are that the injury is not of a serious nature, but is painful and that Chemaj is weak from loss of blood. Lieut. Maher and Sgt. McClaughery are working on the case.

About 5:30 o'clock last night a call was sent in to Deputy Downey at the station that there was a man killed at 35 Railroad street. Lieut. Maher and Sgt. McClaughery were immediately sent out in the police automobile to Railroad street and on arriving there they found that the wrong number had been given them.

After a little difficulty, however, they found the place. On entering the house they found Chemaj propped up in a corner of a room barely able to speak and covered with blood. A bed in another room was also saturated with blood and the floor was spattered. Chemaj told the officers who the assailant was and that he was hit with a porcelain cuspidor which lay in pieces on the floor. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man was taken to the hospital.

Upon the arrival of the officers there was no one about the house except the wife who found her husband when she went home from work. According to the police the assault must have been committed as much as two hours before they were called. The telephone message was sent in from a store in the vicinity.

FREE SERVICE SCHOOL

The Knights of Columbus Free Service school was opened last night in the American Legion building in Dayton street. Principal John J. Donovan, of Lawrence, was on hand to supervise the classification of students and the organization of students. The instructors were introduced to the students. Further organization will be carried out tonight, so that classes will open sessions and study next Monday evening.

THIS ELECTION UNIQUE

Today's election offers the newly enfranchised women the first opportunity to vote in a presidential election. This is a unique feature of the present national contest.

In all past elections there have been superheated contests and vituperation on both sides. That in fact is a stereotyped characteristic of our elections that is likely to remain. But today the women step into the polling booths to pass judgment upon these political bickerings which have been conducted mainly by the men. This is decidedly the most interesting feature of the election.

The politicians in after years will be able to take the result of the present election as a criterion from which to judge of the tendency of the feminine mind in political matters.

It is hoped that today the women will show their preference for progressive policies and men of consistency rather than for the reactionary, the advocate of the status quo or the men who would prove a block upon the wheels of progress.

The campaign issues have been well explained by Governor Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt. They have been fully followed by the republican candidate who has proved a disappointment to everybody. It is very generally conceded by all parties that we shall have a League of Nations anyhow, for the reason that Cox and Roosevelt are openly for it, while Harding has talked against it only for the purpose of holding the vote of the irreconcilables.

Whether victory or defeat comes to Governor Cox today—and we might say that his prospects are quite encouraging—he must be given the credit of having made a splendid campaign. He was not heralded as a phenomenon as was the boy orator of the Platte who stamped the democratic convention in 1896; but he proved a keen, forcible and convincing speaker, logical and consistent at all times. Governor Cox has won for himself a nation-wide reputation as a man of ability, an able executive and a natural leader of men. Four years of Governor Cox as president would get the industries of this country running more smoothly than at any time since before the war.

A CHANCE FOR MISCHIEF

It is one of the peculiarities of our governmental system that we elect our president, vice president, members of the national house of representatives and a third of the senate four months in advance of the time when they assume the power and responsibilities that the people have delegated to them. In none of the other democratic countries of the world is there such a delay in making the popular will effective.

There are undoubtedly possibilities for mischief in this arrangement. It is conceivable, for instance, that on a referendum to the electorate on an important question, the verdict might change the complexion of the administration, and commit the country to a policy strongly opposed to that of the administration that was to continue in power for four months after election. This would give a highly partisan congress and executive a chance to thwart the people's will, and possibly to commit the country to a course of action from which the incoming administration would find it very difficult to extricate itself.

When Lincoln was elected in 1860, it was plain that the people had voted strongly in favor of a policy of keeping the nation whole. It was also apparent that the new administration intended to fight to keep the south in the union. During the four months that James Buchanan held the reins of power as president, he shipped arms from the north to southern arsenals, and otherwise did much to strengthen the power of the slave-holders.

With our usual good-natured indifference to the need of reforms until the necessity has become imperative, we shall probably go on electing our presidents and members of congress much as we have done. Sooner or later, though, we are likely to get a jar that will force us to make our government more quickly responsive to the popular will than it is at present.

UNIFORM AUTO LAWS

Driving a motor car is rather a responsible occupation at the present time and it is more risky for those who drive occasionally than for the professional chauffeurs or the men who are daily engaged in driving motor vehicles.

The complaints made as to reckless driving are leading to legislative action all over the country with the result that the man who drives a car from one state to another is likely to be at a loss to know the precise code of auto laws in operation in each state he enters.

As a result of the diversity of auto laws relative to registration, speed limit and other matters in the various states, there is a demand for uniform auto laws in all the states. Such uniformity is needed, of course, but it is very difficult to obtain it. For many years there has been an agitation here for uniform driving laws but we are almost as far from that desirable end as ever before.

According to the Nation's Business, 42 legislatures will meet early in January and practically all of them are likely to pass a fresh collection of automobile laws. David Jameson, president of the American Automobile Association has made an earnest plea for uniform laws that will permit the man from Maine or California to travel anywhere else in the country without a dread that every time he crosses a state boundary he is under a new legal code, with the particulars of which he cannot become acquainted without unpleasant considerations of delay and expense. Unless he familiarizes himself with the laws of the road wherever he goes, he can never feel secure against being landed in jail or having the privilege of paying a heavy fine.

To adopt uniform laws and secure better enforcement is one of the crying needs of the hour. It will require time and a good deal of wire-pulling to get it done, however. Meanwhile the child slaughter and general killings go on as before and although the state registration office is adopting some excellent suggestions, there is but little diminution in the number of accidents, fatal and otherwise.

THE SUSPENSE OF 1916

In 1916, The Sun was one of the few papers in the country that announced Wilson's election in its editions on the day after election. Some papers did not concede it until Thursday or Friday. Most of the papers throughout the country announced the election of Hughes because he carried New York state. Such a thing as an election without the vote of New York is unheard of; but it happened in 1916 that President Wilson was re-elected without its electoral vote. He received a total of 277 votes or 23 more than Hughes, who received the 45 votes of New York in the electoral college. It is not likely that the contest will be so close in the present case, although in view of the many uncertain elements likely to affect the result, the straw ballots and other forms of political forecasts are likely to be wide of the mark.

New voters should remember that by placing a cross opposite the names of Cox and Roosevelt they vote for the democratic electors. That blank space on the ballot is left for those who may like to insert the names of presidential electors different from those on the ballot but this space is seldom used. The single cross serves for the electors for president and vice president and vice president.

To the women of Lowell who have never before voted in a national election, we would say, put your cross in the square opposite the names of the candidates marked democratic. By so doing you will vote for the best men and the best political party.

Full Moments
In a world that is restless and troubled it's hard to find comfort and peace and content. Life's checkbook of a worry and sorrow and doler. It's all just a struggle for clothes and for rent. But sometimes we win to a partial reprieve. From worry and despair, and life runs like a psalm. When through the blithe magic of cooks we achieve That splendid, distended, post-prandial calm.

When diaphragms tend to a contour convex, We look on the world in a dubious way. Our spirits we fret and our minds we perplex. With serious problems that front us today. But when all the abdomen's curves grow convex, And acts culinary have given their balm. We smile in our comfort, and thus we achieve With appetite, distended, post-prandial calm.

Perhaps our physicians don't wholly Of quite such indulgence, but how shall we touch That mood of content that's too lazy to move. Unless we have eaten a little too much? Though gluttony's wicked, as copy-books teach, We gain now and then, a sweet guardian therefrom. When, amid the world's clamor, we eat till we reach That splendid, distended, post-prandial calm!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Voters sometimes say, "What difference will it make whether I vote or not; one ballot more or less won't make the slightest difference in the final result." Sometimes, though, a single vote is of tremendous importance. Here is a story that illustrates this fact. I give it as I have heard many times without undertaking to vouch for its historical accuracy. A legislature was being elected in a New England state that was to choose a United States senator. In one of the towns the voters were very evenly divided between the two parties. As the time for closing the polls drew near the democratic and republican candidates ran neck and neck. Representatives of both parties scoured the town and brought in the lame, the halt and the blind to cast their ballots. Interest was at fever heat as one party or the other gained the ascendancy for a few moments. Finally, when it seemed as though the last possible voter had been dragged to the polls, and closing time was only a couple of minutes away, the two parties were tied as to the number of votes cast by each. Then came four men laboriously tugging at a stretcher. On it was a man who had been laid up in bed for months with paralysis. A republican ballot was placed in his trembling hands and he dropped it into the box. As a consequence a republican went to the legislature. In the legislature in turn the republicans elected their candidate for United States senator by a single vote. The senator became a member of the senate that tried the impeachment case against Andrew Johnson. It is difficult today to realize how high party feeling ran in those times, or with what deep interest the nation watched the efforts of republican leaders to cast their votes before the vote of the man in bed. The impact of Johnson might very well have meant that the presidential office would become completely subservient to the senate. The impeachment failed for want of a single vote.

The O.M.I. Cadet Fife and Drum corps, a branch of the prominent Bellevue semi-military organization, has made rapid strides in musical circles, and an indication of its wide popularity and versatility, occurred here last Sunday. The drum corps had three engagements Sunday afternoon and all three were most satisfactory. First the young musicians led the impressive funeral of Private John L. Durkin. Returning the corps went directly to the immaculate Conception church, where it furnished music for the members of that parish in marching to the starting point of the procession in honor of the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney. Then the drum corps, with a new flourish and drummers took up a position in the mammoth parade and played inspiring music over the route and to the South common, where again it was called upon to play several numbers.

SEN. HARDING VOTES AND ARMED SAILORS QUELL RIOTING AT BOSTON

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Senator Harding put politics out of his attention today and gave over most of his time to golf.

Arranging to visit the polls and cast his vote early in the morning he chose to spend all the remainder of the day away from Marion. He selected the Seaside club, near Lynn, for his golf game and was to make the 40 mile trip back by motor into the afternoon.

Tonight with Mrs. Harding and a circle of relatives and friends he will learn the result of the voting at his home, where local republican leaders have planned a red fire celebration in his honor.

If there was in the candidate's mind any apprehension over the outcome, it did not manifest itself in his outward demeanor. He wore the same air of smiling confidence that has characterized his manner throughout his campaign, and there was apparent an additional touch of satisfaction that the stress of political debate and maneuvering was over.

Mrs. Harding, his constant companion during his campaigning, appeared equally confident and she insisted on doing her full part to the end of the fight by accompanying him to the polls and casting her first vote for him. A slight cold kept her indoors yesterday but she said she felt much better today.

Vacation plans again in formation for Mr. and Mrs. Harding, but details have not been announced. A trip that would take them away for two weeks or more of rest, has been recommended by their friends and they are expected to make a decision within a day or two. A secluded place probably will be selected so that should Mr. Harding be victorious, he could escape much of the annoyance which comes to a president-elect.

Many of his admirers, confident of a republican victory, have given him the attentions of a potential president and the inevitable procession of office-seekers has begun. Requests for appointment to positions ranging from cabinet member down have reached Harding headquarters. In quantity and there has been a rush to postmasterhips by many who are not aware that recent legislation has put these positions under the civil service.

One of those who offered to serve as secretary of state wrote the senator that although he was young and inexperienced, he had honest purposes and high aims, and was willing to take advice. His name never had been heard before by the candidate or his advisers here.

Precinct C of the Fourth ward of Mayon, was the senator's voting place today. It returned a democratic majority at the last election, but the local republican manager predicted that it would go for Harding by a big margin today.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—One hundred sailors from the United States revenue cutter Androscoog, with rifles and fixed bayonets, quelled a tumult on the steamship Cretic yesterday which two patrolmen from the South Boston station and a few customs men had succeeded in holding at the gangplank until the sailors arrived on the run and a wagonload of police from station 6 appeared at Commonwealth pier with drawn revolvers.

The riot was the climax of an old grudge between Italian sailors of the White Star liner and the longshoremen, who have nursed resentment for some time against the Italian crew because members of the latter unloaded the ship when it was here on her last voyage, at which time the Massachusetts sympathy strike was in progress along the waterfront in Boston, New York and north Atlantic ports.

Liquor Seizure Flare Flame
On the side of the sailors, the smoldering embers of ill-feeling had been fanned into open rebellion by the seizure Saturday of 1500 bottles of cognac, found underneath the boiler plates of the vessel, which was followed yesterday by the seizure of 200 more bottles of liquor, in a similar cache which the customs inspectors discovered.

A tragic outcome of the comedy was averted by the single-handed action of a patrolman, Everett Boatwick, who pushed one of the enraged sailors, who had dashed down the gangplank, silhouetted in hand, close at the heels of a husky stevedore who had ventured to invade the deck of the Cretic in quest of a member of the crew with whom he had been exchanging hardy compliments, and—rumored—a rolling barage of walrus tusks and knives, and crowbars, which he flung menacingly above the patrolman's head.

When they looked down the muzzle of Boatwick's loaded revolver the sight checked them and they showed a disposition to back up. This tendency was accelerated by the timely arrival of another patrolman, Martin Heffron, also from the South Boston station, who reinforced his comrade at the foot of the plank. Customs guards also rushed to the spot with drawn revolvers and these slender reinforcements were soon followed by the wagonload of police and the Androscoog's company of sailors.

Quartermaster Fugli Lampri made an extemporaneous address to them in Italian, reminding them that they were in an American port and cautioning them that they were likely to incur if they shed the blood of strangers in a foreign port. Capt. Morehouse and Chief Officer Francis asserted their authority as White Star line officers and had the men put under hatches until they had cooled down considerably.

NAVY WAR MEDALS TO BE AWARDED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(By A. P.)—The long delay in awarding medals for distinguished war-time service in the navy and marine corps is about to be ended, it was learned yesterday at the navy department.

The decorations, which were held up while a naval board reconsidered the awards, after a controversy among naval officers and a subsequent congressional investigation last winter, have been mailed to commanding officers of ships and stations for distribution, either on armistice day, Nov. 11, or Armistice Sunday, Nov. 14.

The medals were forwarded in sealed packages with instructions that they were not to be opened until receipt of a general release message from the department, and were then to be presented with appropriate ceremonies wherever practicable.

The revised list of those to receive the medals was not made public, and it was said that it would not be released until the medals were actually presented. It was understood, however, that since the original list was sent back to the board, headed by Rear Admiral Austin M. Knight, for review and revision a number of names had been added.

The original list included 13 persons to receive the Medal of Honor, while the revised list provides for 19 to receive the highest military honor. The revised list as finally approved includes the names of more than 400 officers and men who will receive the Distinguished Service Medal and about 1300 to receive the Navy Cross.

The controversy over naval decorations was precipitated last winter by the publication of a letter from Rear Admiral W. S. Sims to Sec. Daniels, declining to accept the Distinguished Service Medal for which he had been recommended because of alleged injustices in awarding the honors. After the senate investigation Mr. Daniels sent the list back to the Knight board for review.

It was not disclosed at the department whether the names of Rear Admiral Sims and other officers who declined to accept medals last winter were on the final list.

"MYSTERY MAN" TO BE DEPORTED

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A sentence of six months at hard labor and deportation thereafter was imposed in Bow street court today upon Erki Weltheim, the "mystery man" who was arraigned in this court a week ago today, charged with acting as an intermediary between members of revolutionary circles in Great Britain and Russia.

The government's attorney had announced that on Weltheim had been found a letter from Sylvia Pankhurst, the school mistress, premier of soviet Russia, in his possession.

"The situation is most acute; not ready for a revolution yet."

Miss Pankhurst has since been sentenced to six months imprisonment on charges of having published seditious literature designed to affect the navy in the newspapers the Workers' Dreadnought. One of the articles in which was entitled: "Discontent on the lower deck."

When the "mystery man" was first arraigned he declined to answer questions and was remanded for a week.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

HAIR GROWN ON MR. BRITAIN'S BALD HEAD BY INDIANS' MYSTERIOUS HAIR GROWER

My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that as he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth. Yet now, at an age over 66, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair, the result of baldness. The pictures above here are from my photographs.

Indians' Secret of Hair Growth

At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian "medicine man" who had an ointment that he asserted would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light brown growth appeared. Day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as plentiful as in my youthful days.

That I was astonished and happy in expressing my state of mind mildly. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious ointment. I was delighted for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called Kotoke, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist.

That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved. Many men and women also children, have reported satisfactory results from Kotoke.

How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair

My honest belief is that hair roots rarely die even when the hair falls out through dandruff, fever, excessive dryness or other disorders. I have been told by experts that often when hair falls out the roots become imbedded within the scalp, covered by hard skin, so that they remain for a time like bulbs or seeds in a bottle which will grow when fertilized. Shampoo (which contains alkali and hair lotions which contain alcohol) are enemies to the hair, as they dry it, making it brittle. Kotoke contains those elements of nature which give new vitality to the scalp and hair.

PROVE FOR YOURSELF

Most women neglect their health, and for this neglect they pay the penalty. Any woman who suffers thus will find that she loses flesh faster than Nature can put it on. She will find that neglect does not pay. A little more attention to health would brighten up her life and make her worries fewer. If she asks her neighbors she finds that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription benefits a woman's whole system. It not only acts upon the troubles and weaknesses peculiar to women, but is an all-around vegetable tonic that braces the entire body, relieving nervousness, sleeplessness, headaches, dizziness and a run-down condition.

Dr. Pierce put his Favorite Prescription in the drug stores in 1870. # MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE IS DISMISSED

A charge of manslaughter against James T. McMahon, proprietor of a bottling business in Davidson street, was dismissed in police court this morning by Judge Enright. The case was connected with the death of Michaela Baras, aged 12 years, of Wall street, who died from injuries received when struck by the truck which McMahon was driving on High street near Sherman about 11.45 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 1. The inquest report submitted by John J. Pickman, senior special justice of the local court, states that although there was some measure of negligence shown by McMahon in allowing children to ride on his truck, especially on the running board, he was guilty of no gross, unreasonable or wanton actions as to make him criminally liable for the death of the Baras girl. The inquest hearing was held under the direction of Judge Pickman and in the presence of Arthur H. Hardy, of the department of public works.

The report finds that the Baras girl was one of a number on their way home from the Moody school, that they asked McMahon for a ride, that he allowed down and that some of them got on the running board, that McMahon, the latter dropped a little bag she was holding and when he stooped for it she fell off and was struck by the rear wheel of the machine.

SLIGHT ACCIDENTS TO AUTOMOBILES

John E. Grenier of Mammoth road, Braintree, and George Curran were slightly injured about 8.30 o'clock last evening when the machine in which they were riding skidded into an electric car going up Merrimack street. Grenier was driving the machine. The automobile was coming down Merrimack street behind a dump cart and in an attempt made by the driver to get by the cart and out of the way of the car which was approaching, the automobile skidded on the wet pavement and struck the car.

Albert Lafleur of Gates street was the driver of the truck owned by the Lowell Transportation company, struck by another automobile in Gorham street yesterday. When Lafleur was about to turn in Gorham street, another machine came from the rear and collided with the truck. Peter Gulesian of Blanchard street was the driver of the automobile which ran into the truck.

A touring car operated by David Lamer, leaving Merrimack square about 1.30 p. m., collided with a touring car owned by Dr. Robert L. Jones, damaging a mudguard and breaking a rear wheel.

WORTH MORE THAN GOLD, SAYS BAYCHELOR

Wife Had Suffered Thirty Years and Couldn't Walk Without Assistance When She Began Taking Tanlac. Troubles Overcome.

"I consider the good Tanlac did my wife more to me than all the money in the world," said Edward Batchelor, 445 South street, Elmwood, Mass., recently.

"For thirty years she suffered with her stomach, and finally got to where she couldn't walk without help, but Tanlac brought her right out, so is up now and doing fine, and gaining strength every day. Tanlac has done more for her in a few weeks' time than all the other medicines we got hold of during the thirty years she was sick."

"Her stomach was in such a bad condition she could eat nothing but a little light food, and even this bothered her until it seemed that she would smother. After eating she would turn almost deathly sick, and suffer such pains in her stomach it seemed that she couldn't endure it. At times in the middle of the night she smothered, got so bad I had to raise her up in bed so she could get her breath. She suffered from constipation, had terrible, splitting, blinding headaches, and often became so dizzy she would fall from her chair."

"Well, I just can't tell it as bad as it really was, and it's no wonder she lost hope of ever getting well. But a friend got her to try Tanlac, and right then things began to brighten up. She has taken four bottles now, and her stomach never bothers her no matter what she eats. She isn't troubled with constipation, nor has a headache or dizzy spell and can get around better than she has in years. Considering how long she has suffered, it is nothing short of wonderful the way Tanlac has helped her in such a short time, and I just can't say enough for it."

Heavy Voting in Lowell

Continued

Later oil stoves were lighted in places not otherwise provided with heat, and the rooms gradually warmed up.

Many workers stopped into the booths to cast their ballots on their way to work. As the morning advanced it became apparent that a record vote was likely to be cast in many of the precincts.

The women followed the advice regarding the worm that falls to the share of the early bird and began to do their voting soon after the polls were opened. Through the forenoon they streamed in in increasing numbers.

More Women Than Men

In some of the precincts the number of women who had voted exceeded the number of men by a considerable proportion by the middle of the forenoon. Shortly before 10 o'clock 751 ballots had been placed in the box in precinct 1 of ward 8—the largest precinct in the city, with 2500 names on its lists. Of this number 400 had been cast by the new citizens.

In Precinct 1 of Ward 9, 300 votes had been cast at 11 o'clock. Fully a half of these represented women. At 10 o'clock 400 votes had been cast by women out of a total of 650 in Precinct 3 of Ward 5.

It was noticeable early in the day that the vote in the so-called republican wards was heavier than in the districts commonly carried by the democrats. The republican women were coming out in larger numbers than their sisters of the opposite party. This was believed to be due in measure to the superior arrangements that had been made by the republicans for getting the voters to the polls. The republicans of the city have also been making a special effort to get women registered ever since the Anthony amendment became effective.

Much interest centered in the day in which the women would give their initial experience of voting in a state and national election. In some precincts it was said that they voted like seasoned political veterans, showing a knowledge of the methods of casting a ballot and making their X's that was surprising. In other precincts it was reported that the women seemed to find it difficult to mark their ballots and that considerable time was spent by them in the booths.

Workers Cast Ballots

The mills and business houses all showed a disposition to afford every possible facility for their employees to cast their ballots and men and women were given leaves of absence from their toil without loss of pay.

The big plant of the United States Cartridge company closed down at noon to afford all of its employees a chance to register their political preferences. The Heinz Electric company closed at 4 o'clock. The plants will open again tomorrow morning.

The election machinery started off promptly and without friction in all of the precincts except Precinct 1 of Ward 8. There, when the time for opening the polls arrived, it was found that only two election officials had shown up. The headquarters of the election commission in city hall was commiserated with and the commissioners solicited aid and supplied men to fill the vacancies.

It had been feared that in some of the precincts there might be congestion of voters late in the afternoon that might result in some people being disfranchised as a consequence of not not being able to get their ballots in the boxes before 6 p. m.

The way in which the vote came out early in the day, and the speed with which it was handled encouraged the belief at noon that no one would lose a chance to vote who desired to do so.

The election officials looked forward to a long tiresome day followed by the task of counting long into the hours of the night.

No one was willing to attempt to predict at what hour the counting would be finished. At the state primaries Precinct 2 of ward 1 was the last to file its returns at city hall. They did not reach their destination until 2 a. m. Today the officials announced that they had arranged a system of counting that they hoped would enable them to be among the earliest to report at city hall. It is doubtful if any complete returns are filed before 10 o'clock tonight, and it is believed that the last figures may not be ready for announcing until five or six hours later.

In which voting is going on today, and that the Sun automobile, in making a tour of all of the polling places covered a distance of 31.3 miles.

Complaint was made at the chamber of commerce during the morning that election literature was being scattered about in the streets near one of the polling places.

Any one opportunity will be afforded the people of Lowell tonight to get prompt information as to the outcome of the election.

The Sun, as usual, will give the news up to the minute as it comes over its wire by throwing bulletins on a screen in Merrimack square. Complete arrangements have been made to have the bulletin service prompt and reliable.

Most of the theatres have made arrangements to have their patrons kept informed of the results of the balloting.

The B. F. Keith theatre there will be two shows—one at 7.30, the other at 9.45—and the new play received in the theatre over a special wire. At the Strand theatre there will be a continuous performance until midnight, and returns will be read from the stage. Election returns will also be read from the stage in other theatres.

The Young Men's Christian association will keep open house during the evening. Music and movies will be provided by way of entertainment, and election news will be received over a special wire.

A special wire will also take the returns to the Young Women's Christian association, where the results will be read, and community singing.

The American Legion will also keep open house at its headquarters in Dutton street. Election results will be received over a special wire. There will be an entertainment and "chow," and all ex-service men are invited to be present.

GENERAL ELECTION IN PORTO RICO

SAN JUAN, P. R., Nov. 2.—Porto Rico, with the greatest number of voters ever registered, today held the first general election since the granting of American citizenship. A commissioner to Washington, members of the legislature and city commissioners of all the municipalities were to be chosen.

Three tickets were in the field, republican, socialist and unionist. For some of the offices the republicans and socialists united in opposition to the unionists, who now control the legislature.

minutes, and beating her husband by 30 seconds.

This afternoon, the governor went to his farm near Jacksonburg, the place of his birth, planning to return here early in the evening to his newspaper office to receive the election returns.

Cox Makes Statement

As a parting shot to his campaign, he issued an election day statement, in which he declared:

"I am confident that the cause for which I have stood during the entire campaign will be victorious today. The campaign has been based entirely upon a great moral issue, and in all the history of the world whenever a great moral issue has been presented to the people it has not failed. It will not fail today."

Harding 13th in Line

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Senator and Mrs. Harding reached the precinct voting place, a red brick garage, shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. They were cheered when they entered the building and several of those who were waiting ahead of them offered to give up their places. The senator refused, however, and

A Mother's Terrible Experience

West Buxton, (Me.)—To read of Mrs. Arthur Campbell's experience is harrowing. Imagining her feeling—she writes: "I am a mother of five children. My little girl, two years old was so sick with fever she just as if she were dead for two weeks. I started giving her Dr. True's Elixir and she began to gain again. Now I would not be without it. I feel very grateful to you."

No doubt this child had some stomach trouble due to worms. Scores of children have worms and their mothers don't know the trouble.

Symptoms of worms: Distended stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stinking, offensive breath, hard and full belly, with pain about the navel, face, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose and rectum, little red worms in the teeth, during sleep, slow fever.

Dr. True's Elixir has been faithful in its duties as a family laxative and Worm Expeller, since 1851.—Adv.

ARE ENTITLED TO VOTE

All Inside Polling Place at Closing Time May Cast Ballots

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—An important ruling was given out yesterday afternoon by Sec. of State A. P. Langtry as a result of the receipt of a complaint that the city clerk of Haverhill had ruled that the polls must close at the hour fixed by the city government regardless of whether a voter was at that time marking his ballot. Sec. Langtry has asked that the widest publicity be given his statement, which is as follows: "Any person inside the door of a polling place at the time fixed for closing of the polls must be allowed to vote, otherwise in my opinion it might be possible in certain cases for malicious persons to block off voters by remaining an unnecessarily long time in the booths and thereby thwart those arriving late from casting their ballots. "The opinion rendered by the city clerk of Haverhill and perhaps likely to be followed in other communities is probably based upon a court decision in Milton concerning registration, in which it was held that the registrars of voters could not be required to receive the registration of any person after the final hour fixed if such person was inside the office of the registrar; but in my opinion that decision does not hold in the case of voting where a person is inside the polling place and might be prevented by circumstances beyond his control from casting his ballot. In my opinion the courts would hold that in equity no such disfranchisement should be permitted."

NEW ORGANIZATION FOR LEGION MEN

La Societe de 40 Homes and 8 Chaux, "the box-car outfit," is being organized in this state for the purpose of arousing good-fellowship, fraternalism and injecting comedy into the activities of the American Legion. The local post of the Legion has received a bulletin in reference to the idea which states that the movement is spreading fast throughout the country and that it is similar to the Order of the Shakes which featured membership in the United Spanish War Veterans and is also similar to the Shriner in the Masons and the Alhambra in the Knights of Columbus. Lowell members of the Legion, in good standing are eligible to join the organization.

The society has its own ritual and paraphernalia. The distinctive uniform of membership is the French "poult" "chapeau" and the society's badge is a miniature bronze French box car suspended from a blue ribbon. The local post is asked to select a certain member or members to aid in the formation of a county organization. Until a state organization of the new society is completed all work of organization and applications for county charters will be handled through department headquarters. Charters for the different units of the society will be applied for at Philadelphia not later than November 15. The Pennsylvania contingent of the society, already formed and numbering about 125, travelled to the national Legion convention in three cars, specially fitted up and decorated like the French car, Lowell Legioners interested should attend the meeting of the post this evening in Legion headquarters.

REPORTS BERGDOLL IN COBLENTZ JAIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The statement that he had caused the arrest near Coblenz, Germany, of Grover C. Bergdoll, the wealthy Philadelphia escaped draft evader, was made here yesterday by a passenger on the steamship Rotterdam, who gave his name as J. W. Hartman and his address as 1252 Dover street, Philadelphia. Hartman told customs officers that he once had been employed near the Bergdoll home and when, several weeks ago while he was in the Coblenz area, his attention was called to a young man who had just bought a motor car, he recognized him as Bergdoll. Declaring that the American army authorities at Coblenz could confirm his statements, Hartman added "of course they wouldn't tell you anything about it yet."

THE MUD-TURTLE EXPRESS

Everybody was getting pretty hungry and Mrs. Woodchuck said she thought they'd be opening up the picnic baskets and having lunch.

Nancy and Nick thought so, too, also Mr. Scribble Scratch, the fairy school-master.

Nancy had cleaned off some nice fat wagons, will you?

Nick took Ben Bunny and Wally Woodchuck and Scramble Squirrel along, and what do you think? They found Tug Turtle and his dad, Tortie Turtle, fast asleep in a mud puddle. The lunch baskets (containing something awful).

Mr. Scribble Scratch nodded wisely and pulled his forelock. "The turtle family would be fine ones to send for trouble," he said, "because they'd never fetch it. Nickie's sponse you'll see what side-tracked our lunch-

RENT LAW HELD

UNCONSTITUTIONAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Rent laws passed to safeguard interests of tenants at the recent session of the New York state legislature were declared unconstitutional in a decision handed down late yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Holt.

Justice Holt, in rendering his decision, which was against Mortimer Osterveld, a tenant, named defendant in election proceedings, said the law was unconstitutional because it deprives landlords from a remedy for repossession of their property, and "it is discriminatory because as between owners of old and new buildings and those who seek to regain possession for other purposes, the act denies the equal protection of the laws."

The decision gives Ostervelds permission to answer the complaint, so that the suit may be brought to trial in open court.

"It is of immense importance that, in view of the series of so-called housing laws recently passed and of which the above is one, the entire matter should be passed upon by the court of last resort as soon as possible," the decision said.

"It is therefore important that a decision of this motion should be promptly made, and to do this and express my views in this opinion is impossible."

HEARING HERE ON PUBLIC MEMORIAL

(Special to The Sun) STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 2.—Arrangements have been completed for a public hearing in Lowell next Thursday evening before the special commission which is considering the question of creating a state memorial to the soldiers and sailors from this commonwealth who have served the country in time of war.

The special commission, which was appointed by the last legislature and appointed in June by Governor Coolidge, consists of J. Payson Bradley of Boston, representing the Grand Army, chairman; Col. Willis W. Storer of Everett and Dr. George N. Keenan of Boston, each representing both the Spanish War veterans and veterans of the world war; Col. Storer saw long service in the old Sixth regiment, and went overseas in command of the Third regiment, while Dr. Keenan was chief surgeon in No. Man's Land; the other members are Charles R. Greco of Winchester, a prominent Boston architect, and Louis B. Kirkstein of Boston, sales manager of Filene's Boston store.

Under the resolve creating it, the commission is directed to determine whether a state memorial should be erected, where it should be located, what form it should take, and how much it should cost.

Hearings have been given in Boston, Springfield, Worcester, Fall River and New Bedford, and there has been an almost unanimous sentiment in favor of a memorial building in Boston, with a large auditorium for conventions and patriotic meetings, and headquarters for all military and patriotic societies. Thursday's hearing has been arranged in order that veterans and citizens generally living in Lowell may have an opportunity to state their views on the memorial. It will be held in the common council chamber, and will begin at 7:30 in the evening.

SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Special to The Sun STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 2.—The special session of the legislature which it has been expected would be called for about the middle of November, will not begin until after Thanksgiving day, which this year will be November 25.

The legislature are to be called into special session in order that they may pass upon revision of the general laws which have been prepared by a special committee of the last session, the work having extended in all over a period of nearly four years. Because of its magnitude, it was deemed best to have it handled in a special session, when there are no other problems to distract the minds of legislators.

It had been the hope of all concerned that the matter might be taken up about Nov. 15 and disposed of in a week, but the state printers report that it will be mechanically impossible to have any revision printed before Nov. 20. Consequently Governor Callahan, who must issue the call for the special session, has decided that it will be better to postpone it until after the holiday.

He fears that if the session began on Nov. 22, for example, an effort might be made to jam the work into the three days intervening before Thanksgiving, and that the excellence of the finished product might suffer because of the haste. Consequently he will issue his call, it appears now, for about Nov. 20, and the legislature will then have ample time to give the problem all the consideration it may need.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND FREE PRESS

A plea for the utmost freedom of speech, a free press and free assembly was made before members of the Middlesex Women's club yesterday afternoon by F. M. Franck, associate editor of the Century Magazine in his talk on "The New Order vs. the New Disorder."

In making this plea, Mr. Franck said that he was not a socialist nor a Bolshevik, an anarchist nor an atheist. He explained that radical ideas are less dangerous to the safety of a democracy when expressed than when suppressed. Free speech, he said, is a social safety valve. He did not contend, he continued, that there was no risk in free speech, but he said that the risk of taking no risks was more dangerous. He cited the case of Germany. Speaking of the independent ability of the ordinary American, he said:

"I do not believe that the mass of the American people needs a nursemaid to take its walk. If so, the American people are incapable of self-government, and the sooner we find it out the better."

"It is possible to drive the passions of the people underground, where they will gather up strength. With a big stick you can drive the radicals underground and keep them underground until they doomed. But on the other hand, you are going to have your hands full."

"There are many unsolved problems, he said, and more danger spots in the situation than in 1914. In the case of this war, force and force alone solved very few of the problems. The sacrifice of the Versailles of the world, or the sacrifices may prove to be wholly in vain."

HUNT FOR RADIUM WORTH $13,000

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 2.—In an effort to locate a milligram of radium valued at $13,000, carelessly thrown away by a woman patient in the Fayton hospital here yesterday, workmen began to dig up the sewers in the vicinity of the hospital.

The mineral was the property of Dr. George M. Fischer of the city, and was being used on the woman in the hope of curing cancer. Because it irritated her the patient went to a bathroom, took the bandage off and threw it away.

WOMEN BOTHERED
BY STRANGE MAN

Something very closely resembling a reign of terror exists among the women of the Highlands. Few of them are venturing out on the street at night, and women in homes are showing a decided disinclination to be deprived of male protection after nightfall.

This condition of affairs has been brought about as the result of the activities of a strange man, who has shown a fondness for annoying women on the street. He has been held several women. Others he has boldly asked to kiss him. He has also been seen peering into the windows of several residences. When he finds women alone in homes he draws his hand across the screens of windows in a way to frighten them.

The stranger made his appearance in the region over a month ago. At that time he took hold of the arm of the 20-year-old daughter of John F. Welch of 70 Livingston avenue and gave her a severe fright. The young woman was walking along Harvard street at the time.

Since then he has accosted a number of women. One young woman, walking along the street, suddenly found her hands pinioned behind her back by the stranger, who demanded that she should kiss him. She succeeded in wrenching herself from his grasp and made her escape to her home.

Numerous other instances of the annoying behavior of the unknown have been reported.

The stranger is described as being a tall young man, wearing a long overcoat, and with eye glasses. The matter was referred to Mayor Thompson several days ago, and plain clothes men have been placed in the district to apprehend the stranger. Their efforts thus far have not met with success.

It is asserted by some of the residents of the Highlands that suspicious are strongly directed toward a young man who is said to be mentally deficient. Fault is being found with the police because they have taken no steps to apprehend this person. It is being pointed out that there have been a number of serious crimes committed by mentally unbalanced youths in Massachusetts lately. The alleged brutal assault on Miss Mildred Wamnamaker of Wakefield in particular is being referred to.

A number of leading residents of the section have held conferences regarding the desirability of applying to the mayor to be sworn in as special policemen and taking upon themselves the patrolling of the streets at night for the purpose of apprehending the disturber if possible.

A number of residents of the Highlands are also complaining that their clothes lines have been raided at night recently. Whether this is the act of the stranger who has been annoying women is uncertain.

FOOTBALL GAME SATURDAY

SOLEMN HIGH MASS

For Repose of the Souls of Terence MacSwiney and Other Hunger Strikers—All Souls' Day

A solemn high mass for the repose of the soul of the late Terence MacSwiney and his brother-hunger strikers was celebrated at St. Peter's church at 8 o'clock this morning. The church was filled to capacity. Rev. Peter T. Linehan was the celebrant and he was assisted by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan as deacon and Rev. Francis L. Shea as sub-deacon.

At St. Michael's church a high mass was offered up at 8:15 o'clock for the repose of the souls of the hunger strikers. Rev. Francis J. Mullin was the celebrant and here, too, there was a capacity congregation.

Today was observed in all the local Catholic churches as the feast of All Souls, set apart as a day of devotion and prayers for the dead. Masses were celebrated in the churches at holy day hours, although the occasion was not a holy day of obligation. There were large congregations at all the masses and many of the faithful received communion. There will be special services in many of the churches this evening.

REPORTS OF FRAUD
FROM CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Reports of fraud at polling places and indications of a vote which would tax the capacity of the election machinery of the city, quickened interest in the balloting in Chicago during the first hours of voting.

Reports of a record-breaking vote were received from all sections of Illinois before noon. More than 300 Chicago precincts early notified the election officers of full ballot boxes, requesting additional containers. Instructions were issued to judges of election to open the boxes, transferring the tickets to bags, if necessary. Inclement weather in the early morning followed by light snow flurries before noon, did not reduce the vote formed before the voting places.

City Council Adopts Order Transferring $16,000 to Health Department

Public Property Department Gets $4000 to Piece Out Original Appropriation

First indications of the close of the municipal year of 1920 came to the city council, when an order was adopted transferring $16,000 from the general treasury to the health department, and $4000 to the public property department to piece out the original appropriations of these departments made at the beginning of the year.

An exceptionally large number of contagious diseases which were not anticipated at the beginning of the year has eaten up $11,000 or $12,000 of the health department appropriation, Mayor Thompson said, while the public property department has had to make unexpected expenditures for the installation of dry closets in several of the schools.

The $16,000 appropriated today to the health department was divided, $12,000 going to the health yard appropriation and $4000 to the health office. The original health yard appropriation made at the beginning of the year amounted to $12,000 and the health office appropriation $4,260. The buildings department appropriation totalled $10,600 at the beginning of the year.

The council also took its first definite action toward the erection of a new firehouse in the Highlands at today's meeting, when it instructed the city clerk to serve notice on Albert D. Cameron, owner of the lot of land at the junction of Pine and Stevens streets, that the city intends to take that land to erect a new firehouse thereon. Mr. Cameron will be given a hearing on the matter before the council Thursday, November 11.

JAMES M. COX

RECORD VOTE IN ALL SECTIONS

Rival Chairmen Continue to Express Confidence in Outcome

Second Only in Interest to Presidential Contest in Fight for Congress

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(By Associated Press)—Weather running the election prognosticator's gamut from fair and warm in the south, to rain or snow in the Great Lakes region, clear skies in the west and unsettled conditions on the Atlantic seaboard, greeted the nation's voters today as they lined up at polling places to choose their next president.

Before noon scattering reports from the four corners of the country indicated that men and women alike were defying the elements where these threatened, and taking early advantage of nature's smiles in more fortunate sections, to discharge their ancient prerogative, in the case of the men voters, and their new privilege, in that of the newly enfranchised women.

Early in the day, democratic national headquarters here sent out a distress signal. The landlord had locked the administrators of the party of Jefferson out of house and home at a moment when the administrators particularly wanted to be inside.

In a long statement, issued after a compromise had been effected and the double bars of the office doors let down, George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, accused the owners of the Grand Central Palace of attempting to stop the entire machinery of the committee. An hour or two later, however, the headquarters was buzzing with the same activity as pervaded the rival on 44th street, where republican leaders, linked with all parts of the country by telephone and telegraph wires, awaited the returns.

Mr. White said that the rent of the national committee office had been paid to Nov. 1, and that $3000 more was being paid to the landlord this morning to cover the additional period including election day. This sum, he said, was refused, and it was not until a check for $5000 had been put up that the offices were opened.

Second Only in Interest to the contest for the presidency, is the fight between the two major parties for control of the next congress. Thirty-four United States senators, 32 to fill seats now held by 17 democrats and 15 republicans and two to fill the unexpired terms caused by the deaths of Senators Bankhead, Alabama, and Martin, Virginia, are to be elected.

EQUIPMENT FOR SUB-POSTOFFICE

All the equipment for the new sub-postoffice in Middle street has arrived and is awaiting assembling, according to Tyler Stevens, who is to be the lessor of the property to the government. Mr. Stevens is in charge of the office and equipment to be used and, according to the contract with the post-office authorities, is to supervise all matters until the office is completely ready to be turned over to the government, which he states, will be in about one week. When asked this noon as to a date when the government would open the office, Postmaster John McLean stated that it was still an uncertainty.

ELECTION BULLETINS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 2.—Skies were overcast and wind chilly throughout Connecticut this morning, but the electors began early to go to the polling places. Reports after three hours were that a great vote was being cast everywhere.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 2.—Interest ran high in the congressional and state electors in Rhode Island when the voters went to the polls today. The weather forecast was for rain.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Heavy voting was reported from all parts of Pennsylvania today. The women in many precincts outnumbered the men. The closest fights were made in congressional districts now represented by democrats, republicans making a special effort to win the seats. Rain was falling in the interior of the state.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 2.—Distribution of election managers to accept the authorized pay of a dollar a day resulted in the ballot boxes in several Columbia precincts still remaining unopened at 11 o'clock. When the polls opened at 7 o'clock, election managers were on hand in only one of the 11 precincts of the city. Later two or three managers were sworn in.

WORCESTER, Nov. 2.—Worcester's early vote was tremendous. In mid-afternoon, more ballots had been cast than in the entire day last year. At noon, more than 70 per cent. of the total registration of 35,900 had voted. Women were out as early as the men and in many of the precincts women were waiting for the doors to be opened at 6 o'clock and during the day the precinct officers reported they were voting as easily and as quickly as the men.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—In St. Louis women formed lines at the balloting places long before they were opened and held their places despite freezing temperature.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 2.—The ballots of President and Mrs. Wilson, mailed from the White House, had not been received at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the seventh election district. The ballots were expected to go to the county election board before being forwarded to the district.

RACE CLOSE IN EARLY RETURNS

New Ashford, Mass., First Place in Country to Report—Norwell Follows

Incomplete Returns in Topeka, Kansas—Man Arrested in Roxbury

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—The outpouring of voters in Massachusetts today, notwithstanding overcast skies, was so great as to tax polling place provisions. From the hill towns and the cities alike came the women, were out in large numbers, and the male vote ran high.

This state gave the country the first returns early in the day, the little Berkshire town of New Ashford, with 28 votes for Harding and Coolidge, at most doubling its republican strength of four years ago, and the six votes for Cox and Roosevelt, falling one short of the number given President Wilson in 1916.

One arrest for violation of the election laws was made in this city, Edward J. Kane being charged with distribution of political circulars in a polling booth in the Roxbury district.

Extend Time For Voting
Because of the congestion reported from many places and the large registration, Deputy Secretary of State Boynton announced that he would advise the authorities of every city and town to vote in special session today and meet to extend to 3 p. m. the legal limit, the time for keeping polling places open, Melrose removed it had so voted. The secretary of state's office advised also that if prospective voters were still in line at the legal hour of closing, a police officer should

CLAIMS BOSTON'S POPULATION 801,679

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Director of Census Rogers joined issue today with Mayor Peters of Boston, who in a letter to the census bureau asserted that the population of Boston was 801,679, the population of 747,923, as announced by the bureau.

Declaring that Mayor Peters had drawn centre wrong inferences and had made certain miscalculations, Director Rogers said that after a careful consideration of all available data, the census bureau was of the opinion that the enumeration of Boston was substantially correct. Director Rogers asserted that federal census takers had found that persons who were not entitled to enumeration at the given addresses had nevertheless been listed for voting purposes.

Director Rogers ascribed the falling off in certain Boston wards as shown in the federal census to a movement of population to suburban areas, and to the failure of many service men to return to their old homes.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE Repiles Coming in to Questionnaire on Industrial Survey—Meetings Scheduled For This Afternoon

Repiles are beginning to come into the rooms of the chamber of commerce to a questionnaire recently sent out to gather information for the industrial survey of the city that is being made. These replies furnish an interesting light on the possibilities for the location in the city of plants that will manufacture articles made elsewhere that are now enumerated here in considerable quantities. Among other things it has been suggested that a concern furnishing compressed air for use in welding would find a ready market for its products. It has also been suggested that a manufacturer of brush handles might find it profitable to locate here. Business men have also pointed out that it would be desirable to have concerns here that would consume the products of local plants making paper boxes, waxed paper, woolen mill supplies and numerous other articles.

A meeting was scheduled to be held at the chamber's rooms this afternoon of representatives of various charity organizations for the city for the purpose of considering the advisability of combining in a united drive for funds. A meeting was also scheduled of the committee on schools and Americanization to take up consideration of subjects of interest in connection with the conduct of the city's school system.

HEAVY VOTING IN LOWELL

Record Vote Expected in All of the Twenty-eight Precincts

Women Among Early Morning Voters—Sun to Give Election Returns

The election battle—the greatest both in numbers taking part and importance of issues involved in the world's history—is on.

The day dawned in Lowell with lowering skies and the chill of winter in the air. Political chieftains found the weather bureau had promised unsettled conditions followed by rain. The election officials, as they made their way to the polling places in the cold gray morning, felt the tinge of snow in the air. It was a typical election and November day.

In most of the polling places the attendants greeted early comers wearing their overcoats with collars turned up. Continued to Page 7

RIVAL NOMINEES VOTE EARLY

Gov. Cox Found 200 of His Neighbors Ahead of Him at Booth

Sen. and Mrs. Harding Vote in Garage—G. O. P. Candidate 13th in Line

DAYTON, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Governor Cox voted early today, but on arriving at the polls found more than 200 of his neighbors had cast their ballots ahead of him.

Accompanied by Mrs. Cox, the governor reached the polling place, a combination barber shop, confectionery, tobacco store and print shop, at 10 o'clock, but the line of waiting voters delayed the deposit of their ballots until 10:17 a. m. The polls were in Carmole, a suburb of Dayton, and about a mile from the Cox home, Triltsend.

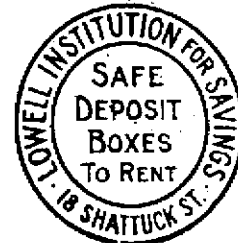

The vote cast by Mrs. Cox was not her first, as she had lived in Illinois and voted at a state election a few years ago. In the voting booth here, she showed her knowledge of the old Australian ballot, marking up four different forms, each with a number in two

Two Engineers and Trainman Killed

AUBURN, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Engineers James W. Toole and William M. Tuell and Trainman William W. Schultz, all of Auburn, today were killed in a freight wreck in the Lehigh Valley yards, Auburn, today, when a double header coal train ran into the rear-end of a train of box cars, just pulling out of the yard. The double-header evidently overran the grade and the two locomotives were unable to check the momentum. All three men were buried under the wreckage and were taken out by yardmen and Auburn firemen.

Communication from William H. Sullivan, secretary of the testimonial committee, inviting members of the council to attend a "Harkins night" to be held at the Crescent rink in Hurd street in honor of the former captain of the Lowell polo team on the evening of Nov. 9, was accepted.

$20,000 Transferred

Mayor Thompson said that the health department has had to expend $11,000 or $12,000 during the year for contagious diseases, an expenditure which was not anticipated at the beginning of the year. The public property department has had to spend money for the installation of dry closets in several of the schools and this also was not anticipated at the beginning of the year.

The order was passed unanimously. Commissioners Murphy and Marchand, voting on the following garage and gasoline petitions and the licenses were granted:

George Morse, garage, 213 High st.

John A. McEvoy, gasoline, 32 Dartmouth street.

Fred W. Holmes, gasoline, 880 Chestnut street.

and James Aizons, gasoline, 9 West Third street.

The petition of the Lowell Electric Light Corp. for one pole in Marion street between Lorange street and Broadway was referred for a hearing Nov. 16.

Commissioner Murphy reported favorably on a petition for a sidewalk at 156-3 Wilder street and the accompanying order was adopted.

Following favorable reports by Commissioners Murphy and Marchand, the following petitions were granted: Lowell Electric Light corporation, poles in Marion street and Seventh street; Eastern Massachusetts St. Ry. Co., pole relocations in Rogers street near Lawrence and Gorham street near Congress.

The same commissioners recommended "leave to withdraw" on the petition of Walter J. Bagshaw for permission to lay an underground conduit in Fairmount street. They said that the state police will not allow it. The petitioners were voted leave to withdraw by the council.

Leave to withdraw was also given the Lowell Electric Light corporation on its petition for one pole location in Marion street.

Highlands Firehouse

Commissioner Salmon introduced a vote instructing the city clerk to notify Albert D. Cameron that the city of Lowell, through the municipal council, intends to take a parcel of land owned by him at the junction of Vine and Stevens street for the purpose of erecting a firehouse thereon. The vote also instructed the clerk to notify Mr. Cameron that a hearing on the matter would be held Thursday, Nov. 11 at 10 a. m.

The vote was passed unanimously without any discussion. Adjourned at 10:55 a. m. to Tuesday next at 10 a. m.

EIGHT KILLED IN CUBAN ELECTION CLASHES

HAVANA, Nov. 2.—Eight persons have been killed in local clashes in the provinces during the elections yesterday, according to reports received here.

The followers of Gomez started a demonstration in Havana after the electoral board had temporarily closed its office, without any official returns having been received.

Delay in reporting the result of the first precincts caused for too many sensational rumors, one of which was that the telegraph wires were cut.

The followers of Dr. Zayas were not discouraged by the Gomez demonstration and started one of their own. At liberal and coalition headquarters the force gathered in great numbers to celebrate, despite the absence of official information.

Some of the newspapers supporting one or the other of the candidates issued extras claiming the election, although the independent, or non-partisan, journals declared it impossible to predict the result.

First scattering returns from six small precincts give Zayas 556, Gomez 456.

The American minister, Boaz W. Long, denied a report published by one of the newspapers supporting Zayas that American bankers would not lend Cuba $50,000,000 if Gomez won.

"The government of the United States," the minister said, "continues its position of absolute neutrality, as always maintained in Cuban political affairs. Economic questions have nothing to do with political questions."

Disturbances from the provinces are being and conflicting. Early in the day the electoral board received reports from voters who charged that they had not been allowed to cast their ballots. The board was asked to stop the election, but replied that this was out of the question and that the Crowder law offered methods of appeal.

The Victoria brought 673 passengers from Alaska, 350 of whom were from Nome. Many of these declared they would not return.

FEWER R. R. FATALITIES

Lowest Record Since 1898—

6978 Killed and 149,853

Injured During 1918

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Fewer persons were killed on railroads during 1919 than in any year since 1898, and fewer were injured than in any year since 1910, said a statement issued today by the interstate commerce commission.

During 1919 a total of 6978 persons were killed and 149,853 injured, compared with 6557 killed in 1918, and 118,507 injured in 1910. Of the killed during the last year, 273 were passengers and of the injured, 7455 were passengers. Employees killed during 1919 numbered 2138, and 131,018 were injured.

Fewer trespassers on railroads were killed in 1919 than during any year of the commission's records, which go back to 1910. Last year 2553 trespassers were killed and 2658 injured. Railroad officials said there were fewer persons out of employment and fewer tramps than formerly because of the war.

TWO CHILDREN SERIOUSLY INJURED

As a result of an automobile accident, which occurred at the corner of Whipple and Central streets late yesterday afternoon, Anna Feeney, aged 11 years and her brother, Harold, aged 3 years, daughter and son respectively of Michael J. Feeney of 18 Klansman street, are in a serious condition at St. John's hospital, both suffering from injuries to the head.

The accident occurred shortly before 5 o'clock while the children were on their way home from the store, when something happened to the steering gear of an automobile that was being operated by a woman. The machine ran onto the sidewalk, striking the two children.

LOWELL LEGIONERS ARE NOT WORRYING

They said, however, they did not desire to make any comment through the press in justification for any of their activities, but would readily take up the matter before the executive officers of the Legion.

Election Bulletins

In September. The weather was cold with predictions for snow.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 2.—The weather was threatening today when New Hampshire voters went to the polls. Interest centered largely in the senatorial contest between the republican and democratic candidates.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 2.—A normal vote, augmented by the women's ballots, was forecast for Vermont today despite cold weather and a prediction of snow. The state always has gone republican.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 2.—Early voters in lower Michigan went to the polls today through a heavy rain while those of the northern peninsula were greeted by colder weather and a forecast of snow.

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 2.—A record vote, possibly 650,000 or over, was forecast for Kansas today. Four years ago the vote was 629,313.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 2.—Negro voters were refused ballots at the voting places in Savannah today. Many negro women have registered here since the suffrage amendment became effective, but the election judges ruled that they were not entitled to vote because of a state law which requires registration six months before an election. No white women presented themselves at the polls.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 2.—In spite of heavy rain the vote was heavy in West Virginia today, whole families going to the polls together in many instances. At Snow Hill, Kanawha county, it was alleged the ballot box had been stolen. Government agents were sent to the town.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Deputies from the office of Charles F. Cline, United States district attorney, were added to the ballot box guards of special police and party workers in Chicago today, following the warnings given Judges in numerous precincts by Mr. Cline to be on the watch for law violations.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—California with a total registration of 1,374,184 today votes for president, United States senator and congressmen and 24 initiative and referendum measures. Among them is the alien land law which seeks to prohibit the leasing of agricultural lands by aliens ineligible to citizenship.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 2.—Republicans today centered their efforts to the Third district to bring about a break in the solid democratic delegation to congress.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 2.—An unprecedented heavy vote is being cast throughout Rhode Island today. Several districts reported at 11 o'clock more votes cast than the totals at any previous election. The big increase is attributed not entirely to the women, as the number of male votes is greater than ever before. No rain had fallen yet to 1 o'clock.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Party workers in Pennsylvania today exerted every effort to get out the full vote of their organizations. An apparent lack of interest made this a difficult task. It was one of the quietest presidential campaigns in Pennsylvania in years, neither republicans nor democrats showing any extraordinary activity.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 2.—Election day in Delaware opened cloudy and warm. Both democratic and republican leaders claimed the state, and made extraordinary efforts to get out the vote. Because of uncertainty regarding the women's vote, some impartial observers regarded the state as doubtful.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 2.—Women outnumbered men in turning out to vote during the forenoon, many being in line half an hour before the polls opened at 6 a. m. They apparently were voting "straight" tickets, most of them spending little time in the booths. The vote will be tremendous.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 2.—Although the weather was threatening, both men and women voters began to flock to the polls in this city in large numbers soon after the hour of opening, 6 o'clock, and the indications at noon were that the total vote would exceed that cast at the state election in September by several hundred.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 2.—The race for senator with an independent and a democratic opposing Senator F. H. Lenroot attracted chief interest in Wisconsin. Senator La Follette threw his support to James Thompson, independent.

dent. The weather early was cloudy and cold.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 2.—Interest was keen today in the race between Senator A. B. Cummins, republican, and Claude R. Porter, democrat, for the senate. The weather was cool and cloudy, with a light snow on the ground.

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 2.—The strength to be shown by the non-partisan league in today's general election, was the problem perplexing political experts when the men and women of Idaho went to the polls.

The league has its own candidate for the governorship, and has endorsed the democratic candidate for the senate. The contests for these two offices was close.

COX BACK FROM TOLEDO

Last Words of Final Speech

"Peace on Earth; Good Will Toward Men"

DAYTON, O., Nov. 2.—Governor Cox, back from Toledo, where he made his last speech of the campaign last night, was ready today to cast his vote, as he said, for the League of Nations.

His special train arrived here early in the morning, but the governor was asleep. Soon afterward he arose, and leaving the railroad yards expected to stop on his way home, a car was sent to meet him. Mr. Cox, who accompanied his husband to Toledo, also expected to go to the polls with him.

The last words of the democratic candidate's long campaign, uttered last night at Toledo, were: "Peace on earth; good will toward men."

These words were the words of the governor said, would come true as a result of America's entrance into the League.

After casting his vote, the governor planned to go to his farm home to remain there until the election returns began to come in at his down town newspaper office. There he expected to spend most of the night, watching the computation of the count.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Friendly Enemies," a comedy drama by Samuel Shipman and Aaron Hoffman, presented at the Opera House this week has received the public approval of President Wilson and of former Presidents Roosevelt and Taft. All three witnessed it and originally produced several seasons ago and announced in public statements their endorsement and the enjoyment which they got from it. During the war times when it was presented it was a very significant meaning bearing on the spirit of patriotism and faith in the cause for which hundreds of our soldiers gave up their lives.

But now, with the war a thing of the past, the revival of the play serves to portray in a retrospective manner the underlying motives of America's participation in the war. It is found to justify the American spirit of patriotism and the war spirit displayed during the world war.

One German comes to this country and despite the fact that he has lived in Germany, he has not given his deepest regard for his fatherland, nor will he believe that Germany has anything but the most honest plans.

Another German who came to this country at the same time as the first, loves his fatherland, but does not fall to love his fatherland in their true light. The latter has been deceived by the American principals of liberty, while the former has been deceived by German propaganda and is one of the misguided ones who cannot understand why any one else doesn't see things as he sees them. Both men were friends, but as residents in this country at the time of the war, they have their difference of opinions makes them enemies and it is about their attitudes that the authors have woven a very interesting and exciting story. The war spirit is not strained too much for the play is intermingled with humor and romance.

Because of the variability of the character which he portrays he has the audience in the depths of sympathy at one moment, then in the height of excitement in the next, and then in stitches of laughter. The other German is played by Maxwell Driscoll and both actors carry the major portion of the play. Miss Priscilla Knowles portrays a comely role, again this week, of course, but even better than the past. Romance is intermingled by the acting of Miss Margaret Fields and Kenneth Fleming. The first attendance at the play yesterday was large and it is expected to be so throughout the rest of the week.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Replete with the colorful atmosphere of the old south is Donald Crisp's production of "Held by the Enemy," a picture of William Gillette's famous play, which opened a three-day engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre yesterday afternoon. Large crowds saw the three showings of this stirring drama of the sixties and all were unanimous in the sentiment that it is one of the most worth while productions that has come to Lowell for some time.

There is just enough of the Civil War flavor about "Held by the Enemy"

Has Completely Recovered After Months in Bed

Mrs. Hilton Tells Those Who Suffer How to Regain Strength, Health and Weight

"My stomach was so weak that I lived for nearly a year on bran bread," said Mrs. Mildred F. Hilton of No. 20 Bradley street, Saco, Me., whose complete recovery should encourage every sufferer from stomach trouble.

"I was without a particle of color and my strength had left my body," she continued, "after eating I had gas attacks which seemed to take my breath away. There was a continuous pain through my back. I had severe headaches. My stomach was so weak that if I ate breakfast it would nearly kill me. The torture was so great. My heart sometimes jumped or palpitated and I was afraid of heart trouble. I could not sleep well. During two years of illness, three months of which I passed in bed, I lost over 30 pounds. I was told that I did not have blood enough to digest my food. When it seemed as though everything possible had been done for me I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had read about them in the newspaper. I was so feeble that I was forced to stay in bed at this time. Two weeks after I began to take the remedy I was able to sit up for a short time. In two more weeks I could walk about the house and from then on I continued to gain strength and weight. When I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I weighed 75 pounds. Now I weigh 135 pounds and feel fine. My color is good now. I eat heartily and no longer have terrible gas spells or pains in my back. I feel better than I have for years. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a wonderful tonic and would not be without them in my home."

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," which tells about this treatment, will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.—Adv.

HELPLESS WITH RHEUMATISM

Not an Ache or Pain Now

Another remarkable recovery from chronic Rheumatism of the joints and muscles is that of our local townsman, Mr. W. H. Scroggs. Mr. Scroggs says: "After all that Neutrone Prescription 99 has done for me, I feel the facts should be known to the public in order that other sufferers may take heart and try Neutrone Prescription 99."

"While working for Dodge Bros., Detroit, I suddenly became all crippled up with rheumatism. It started in my hips, went down into my legs, knees and feet. They were swollen to almost double size. "I had to stop work. I tried doctors and numerous cures, but I grew worse all the while."

W. H. Scroggs

Had to Be Fed With a Tube.

"On invitation of a cousin, I came East, thinking a change of climate would make a difference. Instead of improving, I rapidly became worse; the Rheumatism spreading to my mouth and face, and also both arms becoming absolutely useless so that my wife had to feed me with a glass tube. My future looked dark as the Eastern doctors and medicines had no more effect than those of Detroit."

"All the while my cousin had been urging me to try 'Neutrone Prescription 99', as it had cured him of a bad attack of Rheumatism when he had been in bed for five weeks. Finally to please him and with little faith that anything could help me, I commenced taking 'Neutrone Prescription 99', and it hardly seemed possible, but after the first day I commenced to improve and could see big changes for the better."

Claims Prescription 99 Cured Him.

"It seemed just like a miracle; aches and pains disappeared; the swellings went down and my twisted hands and feet straightened out as if by magic. After three bottles I was 'cured' and I am now two weeks entirely rid of my system of all rheumatic poisons."

"Two weeks after I commenced to take 'Neutrone Prescription 99', I started to work as a machinist, and have been working steadily ever since, and my health was never so good."

"I cannot say enough in praise of '99'. In fact I feel so grateful that I want every sufferer from this dreaded disease to know that 'Neutrone Prescription 99' will bring them relief, and you may use my endorsement in any manner you think best to induce others to try '99' and experience its benefits."

Fred Howard, Lowell Pharmacy, (Routledge & Delle's) and leading druggists everywhere.

to make it thoroughly reliable. The story is told by Rachel Hayne, a beautiful young southern girl, who is supposedly a widow, living with her family in an old manor. The home is the possession of federal troops commanded by Col. Prescott. That officer falls in love with Rachel and is about to avow his reciprocal love when Capt. Hayne, the husband, turns up.

Hayne escapes after being sentenced to death and after being wounded is recaptured. After a series of stirring incidents he ends his life. Jack Holt as Col. Prescott gives a finished performance while the Rachel of Miss Hayes is excellent. The support generally is artistic.

"Held by the Enemy" is distinctly an artistic achievement. The scenes are laid in and about an old southern manor in the final stage of the rebellion and every scene is a masterpiece of press of Donald Crisp's directorial talent. Backed by an extended career as an actor long on the stage and screen, Mr. Crisp thoroughly knows and has mastered the technique of the play. Its direction of "Held by the Enemy" is flawless and the production is easily one of the best of the season.

The other big feature for the first half of the week is "The Blue Moon," a dramatic story by Ben Turpin. A comedy, starring Ben Turpin, the International News and Topics of the day round out the bill.

THE STRAND THEATRE

Gerardine Farrar and Alice Joyce, two talented artists and popular players on the same bill at the Strand this week. They are here for the first three days of the week and, judging by the expressions of satisfaction heard at the latest performances yesterday, both have added new laurels to their already long lists of successes.

The plays in which both are shown are well adapted to the stars and, needless to say, they make the most of the splendid opportunities afforded them to display their versatile dramatic abilities.

Miss Farrar is starred in "The Ridiculous Woman," a play of sufficient range to give her dramatic powers a severe test. The plot is woven by a "black" comedy, who has betrayed and humiliated women. The story is most concerned with his serpentine trail around two victims and a third, little more than a child, who was just beginning to slip into bondage. William Cartier is the debonair parlor parrot. Miss Farrar is the first victim and runs the entire gamut of emotions with skill and grace. The second victim, who is adopted her child, and Madge Bellamy is the young girl upon whom the he-vampire was about to spring. Montagu Love is a faithful friend, the husband and Frank Losee and Louis Stern complete the cast of principles.

The play is the vehicle in which Miss Joyce is so well assigned, she portrays the roll of Helen Reddon, a society girl who is in love with a young attorney engaged in the prosecution of a silly profiteer. Relieving her father the soul of honor, and loving her fiance madly, she is forced by circumstances to make a choice between the two. She chooses the younger man, who offers no defense of her father's charge, but she marries another. When the real facts come to light and she finds that her lover acted to protect her from disgrace if the truth of her father's dealings were disclosed, and also succeeds in saving her brother from the trickery of her husband, she turns from the man she had been forced to marry and the story ends happily.

There is also on the program an unusually good comedy.

An extra performance will be given tonight between 10 o'clock and midnight. Election returns will be thrown on the screen.

R. F. KRETT'S THEATRE

Grace Huff is the type of a woman you can't help liking because she has that sort of personality that the press agents delight in calling "contagious." It "gets" you and you are swayed by it into any mood she wishes to convey. Grace is the outstanding figure in a little sketch which heading current rent bill at R. F. Krett's theatre. "Just Like a Man" is the title and it tells in half way the old story of the man who thinks he is a "big" man with two women and get away with it. The husband says that he is an artist and must have women to cater to his temperamental moods and he indulges in clandestine affairs. The woman with whom he is particularly friendly does not admit him, and his companion with him under the impression that he is single. When she finds out otherwise, she immediately goes to his wife and legs her to suit her own fancy. The latter refuses because she, too, is bored with the husband, and from then on the situations become most complex and unusual.

It's a neat little sketch which tells a pointed lesson under the coating of abundant comedy. Miss Huff as "the other woman" is admirable. Ralph H. Remley makes a victim of his day, Evelyn Deerson plays the faithful wife and Edward Soreghan is good as "the man of principle."

Arthur Winkler means play "So-Su" in "She's Hard to Get Along With," have something brand new in the way of rapid-fire comedy. Winkler is the character who is enjoying his day, and Maybelle is the society lady who has taken an ardent interest in uplift work. She seeks to question the teamster as to his mode of living, ideas on life, etc., and his replies get a laugh every time.

Dave Roth, who labels his offering simply "Versatility," does a little bit of everything. He sings, plays piano, a violin made from a cigar box and broom handle and for the sake of feature is the location of the "big" player at a moving picture show.

Gene Mason and Fay Cole in "Just Kiss," are a youthful couple who put plenty of snap and action into their work. Miss Cole is not the least bit unattractive, to say the least.

The Golden Gate Trip in a musical and dancing review of the great trip of their applause from their dancing. Two men and a girl are in the trio and their imitation of lower Broadway New Yorkers and last evening's audience in an uproar.

Davis and Peelo are two well built boys, who perform difficult equilibristic stunts, and the Quindos, Spanish comedians, open the bill well. A xylophonist, the International News and Topics of the Day are the movie features.

This evening there will be two shows, the first beginning at 7:30 and the second at 9:45. Special election returns will be given between the acts.

RIALTO THEATRE

A screen triumph which shows Lionel Barrymore in one of his best productions, and which holds its audience spellbound until the closing credits opened yesterday afternoon. The Rialto theatre with the showing of "The Master Mind," a First National special picture. It is one of the most interesting and gripping tales of the actually excels all out of every ten pictures shown on the screen. In addition to its feature attraction, the Rialto shows "Franklin D. Roosevelt," a western story, "Brother Bill," a Ford weekly, a comedy, "Father's Close Shave," Episode 13 of "The Third Eye," and the best one of the longest of local record and one of the most interesting.

"The Master Mind" is a story that is full of human interest and chuckle of possible complication. It is the story of how a scientific mind plots the ruin of a brilliant district attorney and finally relents upon the plea of an innocent man. The story is told in a master mind in the production and commands the daring and strength of the underworld with a turn of his finger. It is amazing to see how the denizens of the underworld twist and deride his fixed gaze and crouch under his severe orders. For all of his success plots, Mr. Barrymore retains the respect for womanhood and finally yields upon the plea that revenge will not right a wrong.

In the opening chapters of the story this "master mind" is depicted as a student who is in the toils of the law for the murder of another man in an innocent case. He is a district attorney, Cortland Waterwright, which part is taken by Ralph Kellard, successfully conducts the trial for the government and succeeds in sending the young student to the electric chair. Henry Allen, depicted by Mr. Barrymore, is outside the prison when the fatal current is thrown on and immediately plots the

ASKS BRITAIN TO JOIN IN HALTING BLOODSHED

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Assurances have been asked of Great Britain by the Russian soviet authorities that she will not countenance the military activities of Generals Blakovitch and Fetura, the anti-soviet commanders who continued hostilities against the bolsheviks after the conclusion of the peace with Poland.

The request came through Gregory Krassin, representative in London who yesterday handed a note to the British government complaining that despite the Polish armistice, the forces of Generals Blakovitch and Fetura were continuing warfare on soviet Russian territory with the assistance of the entente powers.

The note asked that Great Britain make it plain that she would not give her approval to these forces in continuing the bloodshed.

SHOOTING AND REPRISALS CONTINUE

DUBLIN, Nov. 2.—Reports of shooting and reprisals over the week-end continue to be received here from various parts of the country. District Inspector of Police Killagher was shot and killed Sunday night at Granard. At Mullamore a police sergeant was mortally wounded by an unknown man and died. Two constables were shot dead at Killorglin Sunday night. A police patrol was attacked in Abbey Dorney, a constable being killed and two others wounded. A constable was wounded at Causeway. Armed civilians captured and destroyed the Littleton police barracks Sunday, taking all arms and ammunition.

In Tralee a naval driver was wounded and reprisals followed, the city hall and a shop being burned.

Use Dum-Dum Bullets

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons yesterday stated that the government was considering special legislation to deal with the use or possession of dum-dum bullets in Ireland, where the police and military had suffered appalling wounds from them.

RESULT IN CUBA STILL UNKNOWN

HAVANA, Nov. 2.—Work of canvassing the vote of yesterday's presidential election moved slowly today and it seemed likely that the result of the presidential election in the United States would be known here before Cuba learned the name of their next president. Returns from 111 from the 302 precincts in Cuba gave Alfredo Zayas, coalition candidate, a lead of 582 votes over Gen. Jose Miguel Gomez, standard bearer of the liberal party.

Some of the liberals charged that the count was being held up by the government, but this was denied by officials.

political ruin of the district attorney in return for his brother's life. Then ensues a dramatic battle of wits against wits; with "the master mind" the tramp card all of the way and enjoying with sister smiles the inconvenience and fear of the man he threatens to destroy.

In order to gain his control over the attorney, Barrymore uses his scientific knowledge to have the secrets of his adversary and then uses them with devilish delight. A girl, Gypsy Green, who takes the part of Maggie Flynn, is innocently brought into the story and is used to bring about the downfall of the district attorney. The latter is finally cornered by Barrymore and succeeds in sending the young student to the electric chair.

In the midst of a gubernatorial campaign and is on the point of withdrawing from the candidacy when Barrymore relents his course against him and departs.

The Housewives Burden

When a woman is almost distracted from overwork, her home is in disorder, crying children, and on top of all is suffering from backache, bearing down pains, or some other form of feminine ills, then she should remember that hundreds of women in just her condition have been restored to health and regained their youthful strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and not rest until she has given it a fair trial.

Proof that it Restored the Health of These Two Women

Cairo, Ill.—"Some time ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me and I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and every one told me the same but I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly one grand medicine."—Mrs. J. R. MATTHEWS, 3311 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby came when I could no longer keep up. It strengthened my back and relieved me of the ill effect which so often develops at such times. That was my first experience with the Vegetable Compound. Years afterwards I took it during the Change of Life and got along so well I scarcely ever had to lie down during the day and seldom had dizzy, fainting spells. I am now well and strong, can do all my housework with perfect ease and it is a comfort to me to be able to say to other suffering women 'take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and be strong.' I will be glad to have you use my name if it will be the means of helping any one."—Mrs. R. A. FAIRBURN, 808 Orchard Knob Ave., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Record Vote in All Sections

ginia, both democrats, are being chosen as well as an entire new house of representatives, composed of 435 members.

The present senate is composed of 47 democrats, 48 republicans and one republican and progressive. The present house consists of 130 democrats, 232 republicans, two independent republicans, one independent and one prohibitionist. There are also nine vacancies.

Rival Chairmen Confident

Will H. Hays and George White, republican and democratic national chairmen, respectively, each continued confident of victory, when the polls opened. Mr. Hays reiterated his prediction that the republican ticket was certain to obtain 368 electoral votes, and that there was a strong possibility that the total might reach the 400 mark. A total of 266 is necessary to elect. Mr. White gave out no last minute prediction of the electoral vote, but renewed his expression of confidence in the election of Governor Cox. Each chairman also predicted control of the next congress by his party.

Cox Busy Up to the Last Minute

The campaign itself, waged principally around the League of Nations issue, did not come to an end until an early hour this morning. Senator Harding spent election eve quietly at his home in Marion, Ohio, while Governor Cox wound up his campaign at a big meeting in Toledo last night. Both state and local candidates throughout the country kept up their quest for votes into the dark hours of the night.

Unsettled weather with the possibility of rain, faced the early voters of the eastern states as they trudged to the polls to cast their ballots, while those of the upper Mississippi valley and Northern New England and New York prepared for snow. The rest of the country generally was expected to vote under clear skies.

Candidates Await Verdict

Senator Harding will await the verdict of the electorate at his home in Marion, where he will receive news bulletins compiled from figures collected by the Associated Press. Governor Cox plans to receive the returns in the office of his newspaper, the Dayton Daily News, which is a member of the Associated Press, and will obtain its full election night service.

Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts, republican vice presidential nominee, will watch the returns at Boston, while his democratic opponent, Franklin D. Roosevelt, will await the result at his home in Hyde Park, N. Y.

Expect 3,000,000 to Vote in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—New York state voters went to the polls in large numbers early today, and officials predicted at the close of the ballot boxes at 6 o'clock tonight at least 3,000,000 of the 3,500,000 qualified men and women would have expressed their choice for national, state and local offices.

Secretary of State Hughes has sent 20,000 ballots to soldiers, sailors and marines, in overseas service, principally in Germany, France, the Philippines and the canal zone. These votes will be counted in December. There also was before the voters a proposition to issue $45,000,000 for soldiers' bonuses.

Expect to Sweep South

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 2.—Democratic leaders were confident they would make a clean sweep in all southern states today. The republicans, however, claimed they would be able to elect their congressional candidates in at least half a dozen scattered districts. The election of Col. Alf Taylor, the republican gubernatorial nominee in Tennessee, was forecast by his supporters, who said his majority would be at least 15,000.

Tennessee democrats, however, claimed the re-election of Governor Roberts and predicted that Governor Cox would carry the state by 40,000.

Pale and thin

But that's not the worst part of such a condition. It's the way one feels—so miserably weak and depressed. Never a moment of real red-blooded enjoyment in work or rest; nothing but a continual state of the "blues." Surely it is pitiful, but there is relief for those who never have tried that good old body-building remedy—the true "L. F. Atwood" Medicine.

It makes new, rich blood by cleansing the system and improving the digestion. Increased strength and cheerfulness follow its use. Satisfaction assured or money back. Ask your dealer for a 50 cent bottle.

"L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Me.

Republican state chairman John J. Gore conceded that Senator Harding probably would lose the state by a narrow margin.

Leaders in both parties were claiming today that a heavy woman vote would help their cause. Many Georgia women were expected to demand a vote despite the state law which provides that voters must register six months before election. Women of the state were not registered because ratification of the federal suffrage amendment was completed less than six months ago.

Heavy Rain in Ohio

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2.—Heavy rain in portions of Ohio today threatened to dampen the ardor of early voters. Clearing skies and cooler weather were

WHEN SHE VOTED

FOUR YEARS AGO

Only 12 states had woman presidential suffrage when the nation last elected a president. Wilson carried all these states except Illinois and Oregon. In Illinois the vote by sexes was taken separately, the women giving Hughes 155,215 and Wilson 333,292. The total popular votes of the 12 suffrage states of 1916 were as follows:

	Wilson	Hughes
Arizona	35,170	35,241
California	165,200	152,291
Colorado	175,815	192,208
Idaho	70,054	55,368

Oregon	126,057	126,313
Utah	81,925	54,127
Washington	183,388	197,244
Wyoming	28,316	21,693

predicted for later in the day. Women voters plus the normal increase in men voters, were expected to swell Ohio's vote to more than 2,000,000. The previous record was 1,165,000, cast in 1916.

Heavy Vote in Vermont

BARRE, Vt., Nov. 2.—Voting up to early afternoon under favorable weather conditions indicated a heavy vote throughout Vermont. Support of the national republican ticket was lightened by the Governor Calvin Coolidge, the vice-presidential candidate, is a native of Vermont. James Hartness, republican, of Springfield, will be elected governor by a majority fully as large as that accorded Harding and Coolidge.

Contests in Missouri

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 1.—The presidential race shared interest with senatorial and gubernatorial contests as Missouri voters went to the polls today.

Senator Selden P. Spencer, republican, a candidate for re-election, is opposed by Brockbridge Long, formerly third assistant secretary of state, John M. Atkinson, democrat, and Arthur M. Hyde, republican, are the candidates for governor.

With a promise of fair weather, a heavy vote was expected.

MAN ASSAULTED IN HIS OWN HOME

A middle-aged man, whose name, according to the police is Mike Chenaj, of 77 Railroad street, was taken to St. John's hospital last night about 7 o'clock suffering from a severe wound in the head. The police say he was struck by a cuspidor thrown by a man assailant whom they know Chenaj was found in a semi-conscious condition by his wife on her return to the house at 77 Railroad street from her day's work. He was lying in a pool of blood. Reports from the hospital are that the injury is not of a serious nature, but is painful and that Chenaj is weak from loss of blood. Lieut. Maher and Sergt. McCoughrey are working on the case.

About 6:30 o'clock last night a call was sent in to Deputy Downey at the station that there was a man killed at 35 Railroad street. Lieut. Maher and Sergt. McCoughrey were immediately sent out in the police automobile to Railroad street and on arriving there they found that the wrong number had been given them.

After a little difficulty, however, they found the place. On entering the house they found Chenaj propped up in a corner of a room barely able to speak and covered with blood. A bed in another room was also saturated with blood and the floor was spattered. Chenaj told the officers who the assailant was and that he was hit with a porcelain cuspidor which lay in pieces on the floor. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man was taken to the hospital.

Upon the arrival of the officers there was no one about the house except the wife who found her husband when she went home from work. According to the police the assault must have been committed as much as two hours before they were called. The telephone message was sent in from a store in the vicinity.

FRESH SERVICE SCHOOL

The Knights of Columbus Free Service school was opened last night in the American Legion building in Dutton street. Principal John I. Donagan, of Lawrence, was on hand to supervise the classification of students and the organization of students. The instructors were introduced to the students. Further organization will be carried out tonight so that classes will open sessions and study next Monday evening.

BANK ALTERATIONS

The Lowell Five Cent Savings bank has been given a permit by the inspector of buildings to make extensive alterations on its building at 107 Merrimack street. Three partitions on the second floor are to be removed and replaced by new partitions. A new toilet room is to be installed on the third floor, four new windows placed on the second floor and a brick wall in the rear is to be built.

THIS ELECTION UNIQUE

Today's election offers the newly enfranchised women the first opportunity to vote in a presidential election. This is a unique feature of the present national contest.

In all past elections there have been superheated contests and vituperation on both sides. That in fact is a stereotyped characteristic of our elections that is likely to remain. But today the women step into the polling booths to pass judgment upon these political bickerings which have been conducted mainly by the men. This is decidedly the most interesting feature of the election.

The politicians in after years will be able to take the result of the present election as a criterion from which to judge of the tendency of the feminine mind in political matters.

It is hoped that today the women will show their preference for progressive policies and men of consistency rather than for the reactionary, the advocate of the status quo or the men who would prove a block upon the wheels of progress.

The campaign issues have been well explained by Governor Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt. They have been fully followed by the republican candidate who has proved a disappointment to everybody. It is very generally conceded by all parties that we shall have a League of Nations any day, for the reason that Cox and Roosevelt are open for it, while Harding has talked against it only for the purpose of holding the vote of the irreconcilables.

Whether victory or defeat comes to Governor Cox today—and we might say that his prospects are quite encouraging—he must be given the credit of having made a splendid campaign. He was not heralded as a phenomenon as was the boy orator of the Platte who stamped the democratic convention in 1896; but he proved a keen, forcible and convincing speaker, logical and consistent at all times. Governor Cox has won for himself a national-wide reputation as a man of ability, an able executive and a natural leader of men. Four years of Governor Cox as president would get the industries of this country running more smoothly than at any time since before the war.

A CHANCE FOR MISCHIEF

It is one of the peculiarities of our governmental system that we elect our president, vice president, members of the national house of representatives and a third of the senate four months in advance of the time when they assume the power and responsibilities that the people have delegated to them. In none of the other democratic countries of the world is there such a delay in making the popular will effective.

There are undoubted possibilities for mischief in this arrangement. It is conceivable, for instance, that on a referendum to the electorate on an important question, the verdict might change the complexion of the administration, and commit the country to a policy strongly opposed to that of the administration that was to continue in power for four months after election. This would give a highly partisan congress and executive a chance to thwart the people's will, and possibly to commit the country to a course of action from which the incoming administration would find it very difficult to extricate itself.

When Lincoln was elected in 1860, it was plain that the people had voted strongly in favor of a policy of keeping the nation whole. It was also apparent that the new administration intended to fight to keep the south in the union. During the four months that James Buchanan held the reins of power as president, he shipped arms from the north to southern arsenals, and otherwise did much to strengthen the power of the slave-holders.

With our usual good-natured indifference to the need of reforms until the necessity has become imperative, we shall probably go on electing our presidents and members of congress much as we have done. Sooner or later, though, we are likely to get a jar that will force us to make our government more quickly responsive to the popular will than it is at present.

UNIFORM AUTO LAWS

Driving a motor car is rather a responsible occupation at the present time and it is more risky for those who drive occasionally than for the professional chauffeurs or the men who are daily engaged in driving motor vehicles.

The complaints made as to reckless driving are leading to legislative action all over the country with the result that the man who drives a car from one state to another is likely to be at a loss to know the precise code of auto laws in operation in each state he enters.

As a result of the diversity of auto laws relative to registration, speed limit and other matters in the various states, there is a demand for uniform auto laws in all the states. Such uniformity is needed, of course, but it is very difficult to obtain it. For many years there has been an agitation here for uniform divorce laws but we are almost as far from that desirable end as ever before.

According to the Nation's Business, 42 legislatures will meet early in January and practically all of them are likely to pass a fresh collection of automobile laws. David Jameson, president of the American Automobile Association has made an earnest plea for uniform laws that will permit the man from Maine or California to travel anywhere else in the country without a dread that every time he crosses a state boundary he is under a new legal code, with the particulars of which he cannot become acquainted without unpleasant considerations of delay and expense. Unless he familiarizes himself with the laws of the road wherever he goes, he can never feel secure against being landed in jail or having the privilege of paying a heavy fine.

To adopt uniform laws and secure better enforcement is one of the crying needs of the hour. It will require time and a good deal of wire-pulling to get it done, however. Meanwhile the child slaughter and general killings go on as before and although the state registration office is adopting some excellent suggestions, there is but little diminution in the number of accidents, fatal and otherwise.

THE SUSPENSE OF 1916

In 1916, The Sun was one of the few papers in the country that announced Wilson's election in its editions on the day after election. Some papers did not concede it until Thursday or Friday. Most of the papers throughout the country announced the election of Hughes because he carried New York state. Such a thing as an election without the vote of New York was unheard of; but it happened in 1916 that President Wilson was re-elected without its electoral vote. He received a total of 277 votes or 23 more than Hughes, who received the 45 votes of New York in the electoral college. It is not likely that the contest will be so close in the present case, although in view of the many uncertain elements likely to affect the result, the straw ballots and other forms of political forecasts are likely to be wide of the mark.

New voters should remember that by placing a cross opposite the names Cox and Roosevelt they vote for the democratic electors. That blank space on the ballot is left for those who may like to insert the names of presidential electors different from those on the ballot but this space is seldom used. The single cross serves for the electors for president and vice president and vice president.

To the women of Lowell who have never before voted in a national election, we would say, put your cross in the square opposite the names of the candidates marked democratic. By so doing you will vote for the best men and the best political party.

To persons bent on committing suicide by drinking present-day booze, it might be suggested that rough on rats will bring about the same end with not nearly so much long-drawn-out agony.

The Stoneham police, when they arrested a one-arm drunken man operating an auto, probably broke up about as promising a combination as could be devised for bringing about a serious smash-up.

Those who remember the now-you-see-it-now-you-don't performances of the restaurant sugar bowl in the past are not so enthusiastic as they might be in welcoming its present reappearance.

As usual, the very best place in which to get the latest news tonight from the political battle front will be a spot where you can see The Sun's stereoscopic screen.

What a splendid world this would be if we could all pay our debts as easily as Old Mother Lowell, who discharges a million dollar loan without blinking an eye.

Every family in Boston is contributing $4.75 pensions for city employees, including retired cops who are still in active service on suburban police forces.

We wonder what Mrs. Harding thinks if she expressed her real opinion about Warren's statement that he is "unbossed."

The department in the recording angel's office that takes care of the record of whooper tellers ought to feel relief after tonight.

The man who moves around telling his friends to "cheer up, the worst is yet to come" usually finds that it does come to him.

The name of the new regent of Greece is "Goundourilios." It looks as though the Greeks were really picking on poor old Greece.

We thought Lowell seemed cheerless Friday, and then we learned that all of the school teachers had gone to Boston.

The wholesale grocers asking to have the sugar refiners indicted for profiteering appear to reveal another case of the bitter being bit.

The Lynn Item has been trying to tell people why prices are high. The reason is as simple as A. B. C. It's because people pay them.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Voters sometimes say, "What difference will it make whether I vote or not; one ballot more or less won't make the slightest difference in the final result." Sometimes, though, a single vote is of tremendous importance. Here is a story that illustrates this fact. I give it as I have heard many times without undertaking to vouch for its historical accuracy. A legislature was being elected in a New England state that was to choose a United States senator. In one of the towns the voters were very evenly divided between the two parties. As the time for closing the polls drew near the democratic and republican candidates ran neck and neck. Representatives of both parties scoured the town and brought out the lame, the halt and the blind to cast their ballots. Interest was at fever heat as one party or the other gained the ascendancy for a few moments. Finally, when it seemed as though the last possible voter had been dragged to the polls, and closing time was only a couple of minutes away, the two parties were tied as to the number of votes cast by each. Then came four men laboriously trudging at a stretch. On it was an aged man who had lain helpless in bed for months stricken with paralysis. A republican ballot was placed in his trembling hands and he dropped it into the box. As a consequence a republican went on to the legislature. The legislature in turn the republicans elected their candidate for United States senator by a single vote. This senator became a member of the senate that tried the impeachment case against Andrew Johnson. It is difficult today to realize how high party feeling ran in those times, or with what deep interest the nation watched the efforts of republican leaders to cast out of office a man whom they had themselves helped to elevate to his position of power. The impeachment of Johnson might very well have meant that the presidential office would become completely subservient to the senate. The impeachment failed for want of a single vote.

The O.M.I. Cadet File and Drum corps, a branch of the prominent Belvidere semi-military organization, has made rapid strides in musical circles, and an indication of its wide popularity and versatility, occurred here last Sunday. The drum corps had three examinations Sunday afternoon and all were filled satisfactorily. First the young musketeers led the impressive funeral of Private John L. Durkin. Returning the corps went directly to the Immaculate Conception church, where it furnished music for the members of that parish in marching to the starting point of the procession in honor of the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney. Then Director Robert Leth and his flutes and drummers, took up a position in the mammoth parade and played inspiring music over the route and to the South common, where again it was called upon to play several numbers.

SEN. HARDING VOTES AND THEN PLAYS GOLF

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Senator Harding put politics out of his attention today and gave over most of his time to golf.

Arranging to visit the polls and cast his vote early in the forenoon he chose to spend all the remainder of the day away from Marion. He selected the Scioto club, near Columbus, for his golf game and was to make the 40 mile trip back by motor late in the afternoon.

Troubled with Mrs. Harding and a circle of relatives and friends he will learn the result of the balloting at his home, where local republican leaders have planned a red tie celebration in his honor.

If there was in the candidate's mind any apprehension over the outcome, it did not manifest itself in his outward demeanor. He wore the same air of smiling confidence that has characterized his manner throughout his campaign, and there was apparent an additional touch of satisfaction that the stress of political debate and maneuvering was over.

Mrs. Harding, his constant companion during his campaigning, appeared equally confident and she insisted on doing her full part to the end of the fight by accompanying him to the polls and casting her first vote for him. A slight cold kept her indoors yesterday, she said she felt much better today.

Vacation plans are in formulation for Mr. and Mrs. Harding, but details have not been announced. A trip that would take them away for two weeks or more of rest, has been recommended by their friends and they are expected to make a decision within a day or two. A secluded place probably will be selected so that should Mr. Harding be victorious, he could escape much of the annoyance which comes to a president-elect.

Many of his admirers, confident of a republican victory already have given him the attentions of a potential president and the inevitable procession of office-seekers has begun. Requests for appointment to positions ranging from cabinet member down have reached Harding headquarters in quantity and there has been a rush for postmasterhips by many who are not aware that recent legislation has put these positions under the civil service.

One of those who offered to serve as secretary of state wrote the senator that although he was young and inexperienced, he had honest purposes and high aims, and was willing to take advice. His name never had been heard before by the candidate or his advisers here.

Precinct C of the Fourth ward of Marion, was the senator's voting place today. It returned a democratic majority at the last election, but the local republican manager predicted that it would go for Harding by a big margin today.

ARMED SAILORS QUELL RIOTING AT BOSTON

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—One hundred sailors from the United States revenue cutter Androscoggin, with rifles and fixed bayonets, quelled a tumult on the steamship Cretic yesterday which two patrolmen from the South Boston station and a few customs men had succeeded in holding at the gangplank until the sailors arrived on the run and a wagonload of police from station 6 appeared at Commonwealth pier with drawn revolvers.

The riot was the climax of an old grudge between the Italian sailors of the White Star liner and the longshoremen, who have nursed resentment for years against the Italian crew because members of the latter unloaded the ship when it was here on her last voyage, at which time the MacGinney, sympathy strike was in progress along the waterfront in Boston, New York and north Atlantic ports.

Liquor Seizure Passes Fine
On the side of the sailors, the smouldering embers of ill-feeling had been fanned into open rebellion by the seizure Saturday of 1200 bottles of cognac, found underneath the boiler plates of the vessel, which was followed yesterday by the seizure of 200 more bottles of liquor, in a similar cache which the customs inspectors discovered.

A tragic outcome of the comedy was averted by the single-handed action of Patrolman Everett Boswick. He pursued one of the enraged seamen who had dashed down the gangplank, slitted in land, close at the heels of a husky stevedore who had ventured to invade the deck of the Cretic in quest of a member of the crew with whom he had been exchanging hearty compliments, and it is rumored—a rolling barrage of walnuts and potatoes. Boswick overtook the sailor and "gave him the leg," throwing him to the floor of the Commonwealth pier, and seizing him by the neck, pushed him back to the gang-plank, down which by this time the remainder of the crew—such as had not gone ashore to observe All Saints' day—came thronging, armed with knives and crowbars, which they flourished menacingly above the patrolman's head.

When the loaded door of the muzzle of Boswick's loaded revolver, the sight checked them and they showed disposition to back up. This tendency was accelerated by the timely arrival of another patrolman, Martin Heffner, also from the South Boston station, who re-enforced his comrade at the foot of the plank. Customs guards also rushed to the spot with drawn revolvers and these slender reinforcements were soon followed by the wagonload of police and the Androscoggin's company of sailors.

Quartermaster Fugl Lampri made an extemporaneous address to them in Italian, reminding them that they were in an American port and cautioning them of strict observance of laws and penalties that they were likely to incur if they shed the blood of strangers in a foreign port. Capt. Morehouse and Chief Officer Francis asserted their authority as White Star line officers and had the men put under hatches until they had cooled down considerably.

NAVY WAR MEDALS TO BE AWARDED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(By A. P.)—The long delay in awarding medals for distinguished war-time service in the navy and marine corps is about to be ended, it was learned yesterday at the navy department.

The decorations, which were held up while a naval board reconsidered the awards, after a controversy among naval officers and a subsequent congressional investigation last winter, have been mailed to commanding officers of ships and stations for distribution, either on armistice day, Nov. 11, or Armistice Sunday, Nov. 14.

The medals were forwarded in sealed packages with instructions that they were not to be opened until receipt of a general release message from the department, and were then to be presented with appropriate ceremonies wherever practicable.

The revised list of those to receive the awards was not made public, and it was said that it would not be released until the medals were actually presented. It was understood, however, that since the original list was sent back to the board, headed by Rear Admiral Austin M. Knight, for review and revision a number of names had been added.

The original list included 13 persons to receive the Medal of Honor, while the revised list provided for 10 to receive the highest military honor. The revised list as finally approved includes the names of more than 400 officers and men who will receive the Distinguished Service Medal and about 1500 to receive the Navy Cross.

The controversy over naval decorations was precipitated last winter by the publication of a letter from Rear Admiral W. S. Sims to Sec. Daniels, declining to accept the Distinguished Service Medal for which he had been recommended because of alleged injustices in awarding the honors. After the senate investigation, Mr. Daniels sent the list back to the Knight board for review.

It was not disclosed at the department whether the names of Rear Admiral Sims and other officers who declined to accept medals last winter were on the final list.

"MYSTERY MAN" TO BE DEPORTED

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A sentence of six months at hard labor and deportation thereafter was imposed in Bow street court today upon Erik Welheim, the "mystery man" who was arraigned in this court a week ago today, charged with acting as an intermediary between members of revolutionary circles in Great Britain and Russian revolutionists. Neither the name nor the nationality of the prisoner was made known at the time of his arraignment.

The government's attorney had announced that on Welheim had been found a letter from Sylvia Pankhurst, Nikolai Lenin, premier of soviet Russia, reading:

"The situation is most acute; not ready for a revolution yet."

Miss Pankhurst has since been sentenced to six months imprisonment on charges of having published seditious literature designed to affect the navy, in the newspaper, the Workers' Dreadnought, one of the articles in which was entitled: "Discontent on the lower deck."

When the "mystery man" was first arraigned he declined to answer questions and was remanded for a week.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

HAIR GROWN ON MR. BRITAIN'S BALD HEAD BY INDIAN'S MYSTERIOUS HAIR GROWER

My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was thin. An expert said that as he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth. Yet now, at an age over 65, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair. No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs.

Indians' Secret of Hair Growth

At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, ointments, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian "medicine man" who told me that he associated would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fur coat appeared. Day to day a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as profuse as in my youthful days.

Oh! I was astonished and happy in expressing my state of mind mildly. Observe the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious medicine. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called Kotalko, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist. That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved. Many men and women, have reported satisfactory results from Kotalko.

How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair

My honest belief is that hair roots rarely die even when the hair falls out through dandruff, fever, excessive dryness or other disorders. I have been told by experts that often when hair falls out the roots become imbedded within the scalp, covered by dead skin, so that they remain for a time like bulbs or seeds in a bottle which will grow when fertilized. Kotalko (which contains alkali) and hair lotion which contains alcohol, have enemies to the hair, as they dry it making it brittle. Kotalko contains those elements of nature which give new vitality to the scalp and hair.

PROVE FOR YOURSELF

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE IS DISMISSED

A charge of manslaughter against James T. McMahon, proprietor of a bottling business in Davidson street, was dismissed in police court this morning by Judge Enright. The case was connected with the death of Michaela Baras, aged 12 years, of Wall street, who died from injuries received when struck by the truck which McMahon was driving on High street near Sherman about 11:45 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 1. The inquest report submitted by John J. Pickman, senior special justice of the local court, states that although there was some measure of negligence shown by McMahon in allowing children to ride on his truck, especially on the running board, he was guilty of no gross, unreasonable or wanton actions as to make him criminally liable for the death of the Baras girl. The inquest hearing was held under the direction of Judge Pickman and in the presence of Arthur H. Hardy, of the department of public works.

The report finds that the Baras girl was one of a number on their way home from the Moody school, that they asked McMahon for a ride, that he slowed down and that some of them got on, the Baras girl being on the running board. The latter dropped a little bag she was holding and when she stooped for it she fell off and was struck by the rear wheel of the machine.

SLIGHT ACCIDENTS TO AUTOMOBILES

John B. Grenier of Mammoth road, Draught, and George Caron were slightly injured about 9:30 o'clock last evening when the machine in which they were riding skidded into an electric car going up Merrimack street. Grenier was driving the machine. The automobile was coming down Merrimack street behind a dump cart and in the attempt made by the driver to get by the cart and out of the way of the car which was approaching, the automobile skidded on the wet pavement and struck the car.

Albert L. Bates of Gates street was the driver of the truck owned by the Lowell Transportation company, struck by another automobile in Gorham street yesterday. When Ladeur was about to turn in Gorham street, another machine came from the rear and collided with the truck. Peter Giesman of Blanchard street was driving the automobile which ran into the truck.

A touring car operated by David Hamer, leaving Merrimack square about 1:30 p. m., collided with a touring car owned by Dr. Robert L. Jones, damaging a mudguard and breaking a rear wheel.

Wife Had Suffered Thirty Years and Couldn't Walk Without Assistance When She Began Taking Tanlac. Troubles Overcome.

"I consider the good Tanlac did my wife more to me than all the money in the world," said Edward Bachelor, 415 South street, Elmwood, Mass., recently.

"For thirty years she suffered with her stomach, and finally got so low that she couldn't walk without help, but Tanlac brought her right out, she is up now and doing fine, and gaining strength every day. Tanlac has done more for her in a few weeks' time than all the other medicines we got hold of during the thirty years she was sick."

"Her stomach was in such a bad condition she could eat nothing but a little light food, and even this bloated her until it seemed that she would smother. After eating she would turn almost deathly sick, and suffer such pains in her stomach it seemed that she couldn't endure it. At times in the middle of the night she smothered so bad I had to raise her up in bed so she could get her breath. She suffered from constipation, had terrible, splitting, bleeding headaches, and often became so dizzy she would fall from her chair."

"Well, I just can't tell it as bad as it really was, and it's no wonder she lost hope of ever getting well. But a friend got her to try Tanlac, and right then things began to brighten up. She has taken four bottles now, and her stomach never bothers her no matter what she eats. She isn't troubled with constipation, never has a headache or dizzy spell and can get around better than she has in years. Considering how long she has suffered, it is nothing short of wonderful the way Tanlac has helped her in such a short time, and I just can't say enough for it."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Greens drug store, Merrimack square, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

Heavy Voting in Lowell

Continued

Later all groves were lighted in places not otherwise provided with heat, and the rooms gradually warmed up.

Many workers stopped into the booths to cast their ballots on their way to work. As the morning advanced it became apparent that a record vote was likely to be cast in many of the precincts.

The women followed the advice regarding the worm that falls to the share of the early bird and began to do their voting soon after the polls were opened. Through the forenoon they streamed in in increasing numbers.

More Women Than Men

In some of the precincts the number of women who had voted exceeded the number of men by a considerable proportion. Shortly before 10 o'clock 751 ballots had been placed in the box in precinct 1 of ward 8—the largest precinct in the city, with 2500 names on its lists. Of this number 400 had been cast by the new citizens.

In precinct 1 of ward 3, 500 votes had been cast at 11 o'clock. Fully a half of these represented women. At 10 o'clock 100 votes had been cast by women out of a total of 650 in precinct 3 of ward 3.

It was noticeable early in the day that the vote in the so-called republican wards was heavier than in the districts commonly carried by the democrats. The republican women were coming out in larger numbers than their sisters of the opposite party. This was believed to be due in some measure to the superior arrangements that had been made by the republicans for getting the voters to the polls. The republicans of the city have also been making a special effort to get women registered ever since the Anthony amendment became effective.

Much interest centered in the way in which the women went through their initial experience of voting in a state and national election. In some precincts it was said that they voted like seasoned political veterans, showing a knowledge of the methods of casting a ballot and making their X's that was surprising. In other precincts it was reported that the women seemed to find it difficult to mark their ballots and that considerable time was spent by them in the booths.

Workers Cast Ballots

The mills and business houses all showed a disposition to afford every possible facility for their employees to cast their ballots and men and women were given leaves of absence from their toll without loss of pay.

The big plant of the United States Cartridge company closed down at noon to afford all of its employees a chance to register their political preferences. The Heintz Electric company closed at 4 o'clock. The plants will open again tomorrow morning.

The election machinery started off promptly and without friction in all of the precincts except Precinct 1 of Ward 8. There, when the time for opening the polls arrived, it was found that only two election officials had shown up. The headquarters of the election commission in city hall was communicated with, and the commissioners scurried around and supplied men to fill the vacancies.

It had been feared that in some of the precincts there might be congestion of voters late in the afternoon that might result in some people being disfranchised as a consequence of not being able to get their ballots in the boxes before 6 p. m.

The way in which the vote came out early in the day, and the speed with which it was handled encouraged the belief at noon that no one would lose a chance to vote who desired to do so.

The election officials looked forward to a long tiresome day followed by the task of counting long into the hours of the night.

No one was willing to attempt to predict at what hour the counting would be finished. At the state primaries Precinct 2 of ward 1 was the last to file its returns at city hall. They did not reach their destination until 2 a. m. Today the officials announced that they had arranged a system of counting that they hoped would enable them to be among the earliest to report at city hall. It is doubtful if any complete returns are filed before 10 o'clock tonight, and it is believed that the last figures may not be ready for announcing until five or six hours later.

It will not fail today."

A Mother's Terrible Experience

West Buxton, (Me.)—To read of Mrs. Arthur Campbell's experience is to write of a mother of five children. My little girl two years old was so sick with fever she lay just as if she were dead for two weeks. I started giving her Dr. True's Elixir and she began to gain at once. Now I would not be without it. I feel very grateful to you."

Symptoms of worms: Deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly, with pain about the navel, pale face, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose and rectum, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red spots on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

Dr. True's Elixir has been faithful in its duties as a family laxative and Worm Expeller, since 1851.—Adv.

Governor and Mrs. Coolidge Vote

NORTHAMPTON, Nov. 2.—Governor Coolidge, republican vice presidential nominee, voted with Mrs. Coolidge here shortly after 9 a. m. and then left by automobile for Boston, where he will receive the election returns tonight.

The governor's day opened with an informal flag raising at his home conducted by his two sons. The boys hoisted the colors on a small pole set up on the lawn in front of the house, while the governor and Mrs. Coolidge and a gathering of neighbors and children on their way to school looked on and cheered.

The voting place for four of the city wards is in the auditorium of the city hall, and ward 2, in which the governor lives, is one of these. He was driven in his car with Mrs. Coolidge and their housekeeper, Mrs. Bertha Rockaban, to the polling place where a warm greeting from his fellow townsmen awaited him. The governor deposited his ballot at 9:19 and Mrs. Coolidge voted a few minutes later. After that they held an informal reception, many of the women voters meeting the governor for the first time.

Watkins Votes

CINCINNATI, Nov. 2.—The Rev. Aaron Watkins, prohibition candidate for president, was accompanied to the polls today, by Mrs. Watkins. She said it was the thrill of a lifetime to vote for her husband. A blind and armless soldier of the English army has become an expert typist with a speed record.

HOW TO KEEP THE FACE YOUNG AND ATTRACTIVE

The way to ward off old age is not to fear it, not to allow one's self to be oppressed by the dread of advancing years. Use only legitimate preventives and avoid trying experiments with preparations that have not stood the test of thousands of underskins. One very effective way to keep the complexion young-looking and beautiful is to apply ordinary metacized wax at bedtime, using it like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. This gradually absorbs the withered, faded cuticle, which is replaced by the more youthful, pink-tinted underskin. One ounce of this wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to completely rejuvenate a worn-out complexion. Crow's feet and other wrinkles, the first sign of advancing age, may be removed by a simple, harmless preparation made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of water. It is used as a face bath.—Adv.

11 Chinese Members of Crew Wounded in Clash

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 2.—Eleven Chinese members of the crew of the British steamship Elm Leaf, were wounded early today when guards resorted to pistol fire to quell a mutiny aboard the vessel.

Twenty-four Chinese participated in the riot which was precipitated when the ship's side announced that in compliance with federal regulations no shore leave would be granted.

According to reports the Chinese armed themselves and rushed from the forecastle in an effort to overwhelm the guards. A number got over the ship's side and hid themselves in the woods bordering the river. The firing of the guards influenced most of those not wounded to surrender. Two of the wounded probably will die.

The Elm Leaf is anchored at Good Hope, about 15 miles above New Orleans. The vessel is operated between New Orleans and Tampa.

FUEL ADMINISTRATOR ARE ENTITLED TO VOTE

Mayor Thompson Appoints Agent Milliken of the Hamilton Mfg. Company.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson today announced the appointment of Albert D. Milliken, agent of the Hamilton Mfg. Co., as fuel administrator for the city of Lowell until such time as the state fuel administrator's department shall decide that the fuel situation no longer requires supervision here.

Mr. Milliken's appointment comes as a result of a request received by the mayor yesterday from Eugene C. Hultman, state fuel administrator, that a local administrator be appointed here to see that every family gets its share of coal at the beginning of the winter season. There is at present a shortage of anthracite coal due to labor troubles at the mines and railroad difficulties and no family is allowed to secure more than three tons at a time in order that every family in the city may have an equitable share of the available supply of coal. Mr. Milliken has accepted the appointment and will begin his duties at once. He served as fuel administrator during the latter part of the war period when John M. O'Donoghue resigned to enter the national service.

10 OF CREW KILLED

The body of Mrs. Ogden Mills, who died in Paris, October 11, was aboard.

All Inside Polling Place at Closing Time May Cast Ballots

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—An important ruling was given out yesterday afternoon by Sec. of State A. P. Langtry as a result of the receipt of a complaint that the city clerk of Haverhill had ruled that the polls must close at the hour fixed by the city government regardless of whether a voter was at that time marking his ballot. Sec. Langtry has asked that the widest publicity be given his statement, which is as follows:

"Any person inside the door of a polling place at the time fixed for closing of the polls must be allowed to vote, otherwise in my opinion it might be possible in certain cases for malicious persons to block off voters by remaining an unnecessarily long time in the booths or by other methods intended to delay and thwart those arriving late from casting their ballots. The opinion rendered by the city clerk of Haverhill and perhaps likely to be followed in other communities is probably based upon a court decision in Milton concerning registration, in which it was held that the registrars of voters could not be required to receive the registration of any person after the final hour fixed if such person was inside the office of the registrars; but in my opinion that decision does not hold in the case of voting where a person is inside the polling place and might be prevented by circumstances beyond his control from casting his ballot. In my opinion the courts would hold that in equity no such disfranchisement should be permitted."

REPORTS BERGDOLL IN COBLENZ JAIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The statement that he had caused the arrest near Coblenz, Germany, of Grover C. Bergdoll, the wealthy Philadelphia escaped draft evader, was made here yesterday by a passenger on the steamship Rottendam, who gave his name as J. W. Hartman and his address as 1252 Dover street, Philadelphia.

Hartman told customs officers that he once had been employed near the Bergdoll home and when, several weeks ago while he was in the Coblenz area, his attention was called to a young man who had just bought a motor car, he recognized him as Bergdoll.

Declaring that the American army authorities at Coblenz could confirm his statements, Hartman added "of course they wouldn't tell you anything about it yet."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The war department had received no advice last night from the military authorities at Coblenz indicating that any trace of Grover C. Bergdoll had been found there, according to Maj.-Gen. Harris, adjutant-general. All such reports pass through his hands, Gen. Harris said, adding a comment on the many rumors that reached his office that Bergdoll had been located. Coblenz, he said, was one of the few places not previously mentioned.

WESTFORD MAN ON RECRUITING STAFF

A. F. Hanson, chief boatwain's mate, United States navy, whose home is in Westford, is now detailed to the local navy recruiting station as a member of the recruiting staff. Chief Hanson has been on continuous service since 1909, and in about four years more expects to be retired from active duty on pension. During the world war he was an officer on the mine layer USS Shawmut, the fastest boat of the mine laying operations in that section. The Shawmut was a unit of the squadron in which was also Chief Joseph Crepeau, now in charge of the local recruiting station, and has the record of being the fastest of the mine layers which were on duty in the North sea.

After his North sea experience Chief Hanson was attached to the aviator branch of the navy. Then the U.S.S. Shawmut was used as a mother ship for hydroplanes. Hanson was in Lisbon, Spain, aboard the station ship when the NC-14 made its overboard jump, piloted by Commander Head. All during last winter Chief Hanson participated in aeroblane maneuvers about the West Indies. The activities of the seaplanes were connected with the maneuvers of the fleet and lasted from December 4, 1919 to April 24, 1920.

Chief Hanson has many exciting and interesting experiences to relate and when asked this morning if he had it to do all over again would be enlist in the navy, he replied, "I sure would. There's nothing like the navy. In four years I will be an independent man supported almost entirely by pension from navy."

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—John W. Davis, American ambassador to Great Britain left here today on the steamship Aquitania returning to his post at London.

Lord and Lady Rathmore, who came to the United States recently to attend the Mayflower tercentary celebration also were passengers.

MUSICAL HISTORY AND APPRECIATION

The Symphony orchestra was dealt with in the first of a series of talks on musical history and appreciation given by Miss Inez Field Damon in the Community Service club rooms in the Runnels building last night.

The talks are to be given Monday evenings at 8 o'clock and are open to all persons who enroll for the course. The history of ancient and modern music will be discussed and attention will be given to the work of great composers of different classes of music. Special attention will be given near the close of the course to the work of American composers.

During her talk last night, Miss Damon said:

"There are four divisions in an orchestra, the stringed instruments, the wood winds, the brass winds and the percussion. The stringed quartet, which is the most highly developed type of chamber music, is composed of soprano and alto violins, a viola for the tenor, and a -violinello for the bass. The double bass practically doubles the part of the cello and is therefore left out of the quartet.

There are the piccolo, flute, oboe and clarinet with the bassoon corresponding to the double bass. The brass winds are the French horn, the cornet or trumpet, the trombone and the tuba. The percussion are the tympani or kettle drums, which are the only ones of this division which play to pitch, small drums, bells, xylophones, triangles, gongs, cymbals, castanets, the celeria and the marimba."

Make a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves almost 50% Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the husky throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for 4 1/2 ounces of Pinex with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

It was the custom of our grandparents when anything was the matter with their stomach, liver or kidneys, to take a remedy composed of the right kind of roots and herbs, and by so doing lived to a ripe old age. It is also true that the Shakers, who have always depended upon the life-giving juices of leaves, roots and herbs, are long-lived people. The roots and herbs of which SEVEN BARKS is principally composed were gathered by the Shakers for many, many years, then scientifically blended, and SEVEN BARKS has become famous as one of the most reliable remedies for indigestion, Constipation, Liver, Kidney and Stomach disorders.

Dull pains in the back, often under the shoulder blades, poor indigestion, heartburns or flutterings, sour risings, yellow skin mean liver troubles, and you should take SEVEN BARKS; it will relieve you, as it will make the liver active, tone up the digestive organs and cause the bowels to act normally.

SEVEN BARKS is not a cure-all, but a very reliable remedy that will attack on the liver, stomach and bowels, sets them to right, tones and strengthens the general health.

If you want to get the greatest efficiency out of your body, and prolong your life, take SEVEN BARKS. At druggists, 60 cents a bottle. Don't out it off; get it today.—Adv.

THE MUD-TURTLE EXPRESS

Everybody was getting pretty hungry and Mrs. Woodchuck said she thought they'd be opening up the picnic baskets and having lunch.

Nancy and Nick thought so, too, also Mr. Scribble Scratch, the fairy school-master.

Nancy had cleaned off some nice flat wagons, will you?

Nick took Ben Bunny and Wally Woodchuck and Scramble Squirrel along, and what do you think? They found Tug Turtle and his dad, Torty Turtle, fast asleep in a mud puddle, the lunch baskets tottering something awful.

"Let's play a joke on them," whispered Nick, and he whispered some-stones for tables, and so all the Meadow Grove people trooped over expectantly, hungry as hunters and ready to eat the lids off the baskets. But where were the baskets? They weren't in sight anywhere.

"Tug Turtle and his daddy said they would bring them," explained Nick. "I had all the baskets stacked up on their backs like express wagons, and they were on the way when I left them."

Mr. Scribble Scratch nodded wisely and pulled his forelock. "The turtle family would be the ones to send for trouble," he said, "because they'd never fetch it. Nickle's spouse you go and see what side-tracked our lunch-thing more, too. Then they all set to work quietly unloading the baskets.

At sunset, Torty stretched out his neck and blinked his eyes. "Come on, Tug," he said. "We'd better be moving. It's nearly noon and time to eat! We must have slept ten minutes." Tug yawned and stretched, too, and the pair of them started off.

Just then Mr. Scribble disappeared, and Mr. Moon peeped his big eye over a hill and winked at them. Tug and Torty were so surprised they stopped dead still. Then they missed the baskets. They had slept all day and missed two meals!

RENT LAW HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Rent laws passed to safeguard interests of tenants at the recent session of the New York state legislature were declared unconstitutional in a decision handed down late yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Hotchkiss.

Justice Hotchkiss, in rendering his decision, which was against Mortimer Ostrowsky, a tenant, named defendant in ejectment proceedings, said the law was unconstitutional because it deprives landlords from a remedy for repossession of their property, and "it is discriminatory because it is between owners of old and new buildings and those who seek to regain possession for other purposes, the act denies the equal protection of the laws."

The decision gives Ostrowsky permission to answer the complaint, so that the suit may be brought to trial in open court.

"It is of immense importance that, in view of the series of so-called housing laws recently passed and of which the above is one, the entire matter should be passed upon by the court. If just resort is taken as possible," the decision said.

"It is therefore important that a decision of this motion should be promptly made, and to do this and express my views in this opinion is impossible."

WOMEN BOTHERED
BY STRANGE MAN

Something very closely resembling a reign of terror exists among the women of the Highlands. Few of them are venturing out on the street at night unattended, and women in homes are showing a decided disinclination to be deprived of male protection after nightfall.

This condition of affairs has been brought about as the result of the activities of a strange man, who has shown a fondness for annoying women on the street. He has taken hold of several women. Others he has boldly asked to kiss him. He has also been seen peering into the windows of several residences. When he finds women alone in homes he draws his hand across the screens of windows in a way to frighten them.

The stranger made his appearance in the section over a month ago. At that time he took hold of the arm of the 20-year-old daughter of John F. Welch of 70 Livingston avenue and gave her a severe fright. The young woman was walking along Harvard street at the time.

Since then he has accosted a number of women. One young woman, walking along the street, suddenly found her hands pinioned behind her back by the stranger, who demanded that she should kiss him. She succeeded in wresting herself from his grasp and made her escape to her home.

Numerous other instances of the annoying behavior of the unknown have been reported.

The stranger is described as being a tall young man, wearing a long overcoat, and with eye glasses.

The matter was referred to Mayor Thompson several days ago, and plain clothes men have been placed in the district to apprehend the stranger. Their efforts thus far have not met with success.

It is asserted by some of the residents of the Highlands that suspicious are strongly directed toward a young man who is said to be mentally deficient. Fault is being found with the police because they have taken no steps to apprehend this person. It is being pointed out that there have been a number of serious crimes committed by mentally unbalanced youths in Massachusetts lately. The alleged brutal assault on Miss Mildred Wamnamaker of Wakefield in particular is being referred to.

A number of leading residents of the section have held conferences regarding the desirability of applying to the mayor to be sworn in as special policemen and taking upon themselves the patrolling of the streets at night for the purpose of apprehending the disturber if possible.

A number of residents of the Highlands are also complaining that their clothes lines have been raided at night by the stranger who has been annoying women is uncertain.

FOOTBALL GAME SATURDAY
The Young Cubs' football team, of Ayer City, will meet the Parker A.C. Saturday afternoon at 2:45 at the Lincoln school grounds. SOLEMN HIGH MASS

For Repose of the Souls of Terence MacSwiney and Other Hunger Strikers—St. John's Day
A solemn high mass for the repose of the soul of the late Terence MacSwiney and his brother hunger strikers was celebrated at St. Peter's church at 8 o'clock this morning. The church was filled to capacity. Rev. Peter T. Linehan was the celebrant and he was assisted by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan as deacon and Rev. Francis J. Shea as sub-deacon.

At St. Michael's church a high mass was offered up at 9:15 o'clock for the repose of the souls of the hunger strikers. Rev. Francis J. Mullin was the celebrant and here, too, there was a capacity congregation.

Funerals were observed in all the local Catholic churches as the feast of All Souls, set apart as a day of devotion and prayers for the dead. Masses were celebrated in the churches at holy day hours, although the occasion was not a holy day of obligation. There were large congregations at all the masses and many of the faithful received communion. There will be special services in many of the churches this evening.

REPORTS OF FRAUD
FROM CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Reports of fraud at polling places and indications of a vote which would tax the capacity of the election machinery of the city, quickened interest in the balloting in Chicago during the first hours of voting.

Reports of a record-breaking vote were received from all sections of Illinois before noon. More than 300 Chicago precincts early notified the election officers of full ballot boxes, requesting additional containers. Instructions were issued to judges of election to open the boxes, transferring the tickets to bags, if necessary.

Inclement weather in the early morning followed by light snow flurries before noon, did not reduce the turnout before the polls.
